And it appearing from the canvass that Francis G. Blair had received the highest number of votes cast for any person for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, the said Francis G. Blair was declared elected to the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Illinois, for the term of four years beginning on the second Monday of January, being the 13th day of January, A. D. 1919, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

The Joint Committee of the House and Senate heretofore appointed to wait upon the Governor and inform him of the organization of the General Assembly appeared in the hall of the House of Representatives accompanied by the Governor, who, after being presented to the joint session, personally delivered his biennial message to the General Assembly, which is as follows, to-wit:

Gentlemen of the Fifty-first General Assembly:

In compliance with the mandate of the Constitution, I beg to report to your Honorable Body the condition of the State, together with some recommendations which seem to me important at the present time.

The financial condition of the State is good. When I came into office in January, 1917, there was in the Treasury of the State, in the general revenue fund, $307,660.74; against this there were outstanding warrants $307,132.92; the available cash in the general revenue fund was $528.82. In addition, there were many claims against the Treasury for which warrants had not been issued. On January 1, 1918, there was in the same fund (less outstanding warrants), $4,734,316, and on January 1, 1919, there was (less outstanding warrants) $12,901,744.04. Six months of the year for which appropriations have already been made remain, the expenses of which must be largely paid out of this amount if we would avoid the unbusinesslike practice which has obtained at times in the past of using the taxes levied for the following year. The improved condition of the treasury has made it possible to reduce the general property tax for the year from ninety cents on the one hundred dollars to seventy-five cents. The Department of Finance estimates that this rate will be ample, with the other income of the State, to raise sufficient revenue to meet all its expenses until July 1, 1920.

The road fund has increased in the same period from $2,072,115.66 to $4,732,062.80.

All bills are now paid promptly, and thus the credit of the State is greatly improved, enabling the State to secure better prices upon the commodities it has to purchase. We also are able to take advantage of all cash discounts, which in itself has resulted in a considerable saving.

CIVIL ADMINISTRATIVE CODE.

The Civil Administrative Code went into effect on July 1, 1917. It amounted to a revolution in government. Under it a reorganization of more than one hundred and twenty-five boards, commissions and independent agencies was effected. Nine departments, with extensive and real power vested in each head have taken the place of those bodies, which were abolished, and discharge, under the general supervision of the Governor, the details of government for which the Governor is responsible. At the time the bill was up for consideration it was claimed that it would result in both efficiency and economy.

It has more than justified all the expectations that were formed concerning it. The functions of the government are discharged at the Capitol. The Governor is in daily contact with his administration in all its activities. Unity and harmony of administration have been attained, and vigor and energy of administration enhanced.

It seems to me almost Providential that it should have been enacted into law before war actually came. A large number of the State's most expert officials and employees were drawn upon by the government at Washington because of the exigencies of the war. The same difficulties arose in the conduct of public business, which vexed private business so much. There was necessarily much confusion. The cost of all supplies rose rapidly. Unless the more than hundred scattered agencies, which had existed theretofore, had been welded by the Civil Administrative Code into a compact and coordinate government, anything like efficient State government, during these difficult times, would have been impossible. Illinois, through the greater elasticity and efficiency of her new form of government, was able to meet every emergency of the war without an extraordinary session of her Legislature.

The appropriations made by the last General Assembly were based upon pre-war prices and conditions. And yet, we will have completed the biennium without a deficiency in any department under the Code, with the exception of the item of supplies for the Charitable and Penal Institutions in the Department of Public Welfare.

Reports of the directors of the several departments, under the Code, have been submitted to me and are being printed and bound into one volume. These reports cover the work of the several departments since the adoption of the Code, and will be submitted to you with the hope that you will give them your careful consideration.

FIRST BUDGET IS READY.

One of the departments created by the Civil Administrative Code was the Department of Finance. In pursuance of the powers vested in that department, it has provided for a uniform system of bookkeeping in all branches of the government under the Governor's control. It has prescribed forms for accounts and financial reports. It has supervised and examined the accounts and expenditures of the several departments. It has approved or disapproved all vouchers, bills and claims of the several departments. It has required each department, before an appropriation for such department should become available for expenditure, to prepare and submit to the Department of Finance an estimate of the amount required for each activity to be carried on within such department.

The Department of Finance is also required, under the Administrative Code, to prepare a budget, and full powers were vested in the Department to make any investigation which might be necessary to enable it to formulate intelligently the financial needs of the State for the next biennium. Such investigation has been made and the budget has been prepared as required by law, and will be submitted to your Honorable Body. It will be readily seen that the Director of Finance began, in fact, preparing for the budget on July 1, 1917, for when he exercised his powers of supervision over the accounts of the several activities of the State, he began to form some idea as to the real needs of the State. At this time I need only say that the budget is the result of many months of exhaustive study and arduous work. I believe that it will commend itself to your wisdom.

PUBLIC WELFARE PROBLEMS.

Perhaps the Department of Public Welfare has labored, during the war, under greater difficulties than any other department of our government. Though the minimum wages of attendants were increased 40 per cent, it was impossible to secure competent attendants in anything like sufficient numbers. The drafts specially made upon physicians and nurses in the service by the War Department and the Red Cross threatened to demoralize the service. In some instances, the entire medical staff of a hospital, with the exception of superintendent and assistant superintendent, was changed twice during the war. At one time the situation was so serious that I deemed it necessary to make a direct public appeal to the people to engage in the necessary work at the State institutions in order that we might not have to close them.

Much trouble, too, was had in procuring sufficient and satisfactory food for the inmates of the institutions because of government requirements. At best, where food must be prepared in such large quantities, the problem is a hard one. Means have been provided, however, by which it is hoped that this situation will be permanently improved.

Special attention has been given to the farms connected with the different institutions. The Department of Public Welfare, in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture, has reorganized the activities of these farms. They have been made very productive and profitable in every instance. Indeed, they have been a very large factor in helping us to meet the food problem at all. We have demonstrated that these farms are not only a source of considerable revenue to the institutions, but they also afford healthy and wholesome occupation for the inmates of the institutions, who are suited to this work. In addition to this, there is no reason why each of the institution farms should not be an object lesson making for better agriculture in its community.

Under all the circumstances, it is submitted that the State institutions have functioned much better than could have been expected. The officers of these institutions, who overcame their difficulties and embarrassments during these trying times, are entitled to the gratitude of the people of Illinois. I visited most of the institutions myself and know something of the appalling obstacles they had to overcome.

The buildings and equipment of the State institutions were found to be in bad physical condition. That condition has been considerably improved by utilizing the labor of inmates of the institutions. It has been the policy of the Department to furnish occupation, wherever possible, to the population of all the State institutions. Healthful and congenial occupation has been found to be an important factor in restoring to normal condition insane patients and other defectives of society. That it adds to their general well-being and happiness, there can be no doubt. In fact, it is believed that the ideal form for State institutions to take is the community form, with the inmates contributing as largely as possible to the needs of the community life.

A survey has been made of the buildings, with equipment, belonging to the State, and it has been estimated that the natural depreciation of those buildings will amount to two per cent annually. In the budget that will be submitted to you, an appropriation for that amount is asked, with which it is believed that all property of the State can be kept in proper repair. While it requires but a small sum annually to keep up a building, if it be allowed to go for a number of years without any repairs, the damage becomes very great. Nothing is more wasteful than delaying needed repairs to buildings.

The appropriations for buildings which we ask of your Honorable Body for the Department of Public Welfare will be something in excess of three million dollars. This amount, it is believed, is necessary to provide adequately for the growing needs of the State. It must be remembered that the wards of the State, to be cared for in the charitable institutions alone, increase at the rate of a thousand each year. The report of this department will disclose a well-thought-out and permanent plan for future development of these institutions. It is believed that a similar amount must be appropriated for buildings within that department for each biennium, if Illinois is to keep abreast of her needs and make the progress which her people have the right to expect. Instead of a large building program at one session and little or nothing at the next, I think that wise policy requires that we should plan for future development in such a way that something like the same amount for buildings can be appropriated each biennium. In this way only can rational, continuous and conservative progress be made.

The Department of Public Welfare has been consistently, from the beginning, at work upon the problems of prevention. It has sought to discover, so far as it could, the causes which have produced society's defectives. The work along this line has developed so far that it is now thought necessary to establish a separate building for the laboratory for psychopathic research, and you will be asked to make an appropriation therefor.

PLANS FOR WATERWAY.

When the Department of Public Works and Buildings was organized, it at once took up the study of a waterway route connecting the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River. The first Governor of the State, in his first message to the Legislature, called the attention of that body to the importance of this waterway. Finally, the Illinois and Michigan Canal was built. In its day, it played a great part in the development of Illinois. It more than paid for itself directly, and the indirect benefits were untold. Even in its half decay, it held down the rates of railroads for a large and important region. In recent years, it has been practically abandoned.

There were several reasons for this. The railroads were permitted to make rates so low in competition with the canal, even at a loss to themselves, that the canal could no longer compete. In addition, the canal was altogether too small for economical use under modern conditions. The present method of transportation on inland waterways is to employ a large number of barges with a single tow. This requires a larger canal and larger locks.

For many years, the desirability of superseding the old canal by a modern waterway has been urged. Legislation was enacted by the Forty-ninth General Assembly. This legislation contemplated different routes. No engineering data, however, had been gathered, and there was no information in the possession of the department upon which any idea of the cost of the different routes could be based. The department employed Mr. M. G. Barnes, who had lately been consulting engineer in the reconstruction of the Erie Canal. General William H. Bixby, former Chief of the Engineer Corps of the U. S. Army, and later president of the Mississippi River Commission was called into conference at every stage of our investigation. We began a study of the different routes proposed. They were, briefly, first, to use the old Illinois and Michigan Canal altogether; second, to use the canal in part, and the Desplaines and Illinois Rivers in part; and third, the all-river route. Our investigations show the approximate cost of the above projects, and this, together with other data in our possession, will be submitted to your Honorable Body. While the last route is the most expensive, it is the only one believed adequate to accommodate economically the commerce which might be expected to develop in the near future. Reports have been made, from time to time, during the last hundred years by the Engineering Corps of the United States Army upon this waterway. They all agree upon the all-river route, and this is the route which nature has marked out. After the fullest consideration I have been able to give to the subject, I favor that route.

Early in my administration, an appropriation of $150,000 was secured from the Federal government for the rehabilitation of the old canal. To accomplish this, much work has already been done, and it is expected that it will be open for commerce early in the spring. A transportation company has been organized in Chicago, which has already built some barges and is building more to be used upon the canal, in the coming season. It was believed that a considerable commerce would develop immediately, if the old canal was reopened, and that in the event your Honorable Body authorized the larger plan, the canal would be invaluable in cheaply transporting materials for the construction of the larger project.

The water transportation on the Great Lakes grows in volume each year. Chicago, in tonnage entered, is the second port of the United States, having a tonnage four-fifths as large as that of New York. It is but a little more than sixty miles from the Great Lakes system of waterways to the Mississippi system. The first white explorers of this section, almost two centuries and a half ago, pointed out that with this link improved, there would be a natural highway from the Lakes to the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico. With this accomplished, Chicago, although one thousand miles from the sea-board, might easily become the first port in tonnage of the United States.

The industrial centers of Illinois are one thousand miles nearer the Pacific coast than are the cities of the Atlantic sea-board. And yet, the latter cities, since the opening of the Panama Canal, because of cheaper water transportation, can reach the Pacific coast with a lower freight cost than can the cities of Illinois.

As an industrial State, Illinois is only in its infancy. If it is to have its share in the world trade, which is just opening, it must have the advantage of cheap water transportation. Nature, which has been so bountiful to Illinois in other ways, has pointed the way. The time has come when we should utilize this great advantage. I think it is safe to say that this is the most important undeveloped waterway in all the United States. The Mississippi River system radiates into all parts of the great Mississippi Valley. If that system can be connected with the Great Lakes, with its already immense commerce, the whole country will be greatly benefited. For that reason, it seems to me that the Federal government should bear its fair proportion of the cost. I believe that a plan can be worked out by which the Federal government may be induced to do this.

To accomplish this, very material amendments will have to be made to the law of 1915. The war department has refused to issue a permit to the State under that law. Changes will have to be made to overcome this difficulty, and also to meet the views above set forth.

I recommend that your Honorable Body give its most earnest consideration to this important subject.

COMPENSATION LAW.

The compensation law, which had theretofore been voluntary, was made compulsory at the last session of your Honorable Body. The results have abundantly proven your wisdom. Under the old method of ascertaining damages for personal injury, there were long delays, heavy expenses, and but a fraction of the total cost to the employer went to the injured employee. In a large proportion of the cases arising under the compensation law at present, the amount is fixed without expense to either party for lawyers or expert witnesses.

This law will be increasingly successful in its administration, if means can be found to constantly reduce the number of cases in which it is thought necessary to employ either counsel or expert evidence.

The Civil Administrative Code abolished the old Board of Arbitration, and devolved its duties upon the Industrial Commission. It was believed at the time that the Industrial Commission, sitting day by day, with the employers and employees equally represented upon it, already engaged in adjusting differences of one kind, would thereby become better suited to settle industrial disputes than a body which was constituted for that and no other reason.

The Industrial Commission appointed two mediators—one from the employees, the other from the employers. They have been singularly successful in preventing and settling strikes. Indeed it can be confidently asserted that this body has averted and settled more strikes within the State, during the period of its existence, than any similar body for the same period of time in the history of the State.

THE CENTENNIAL.

During the year 1918, we celebrated the One Hundredth anniversary of our Statehood. At first, there was some question as to whether or not the plans for that celebration should be abandoned because of the war. It was finally decided that the celebration could be made a great vehicle for patriotic propaganda, and therefore, it was determined to go on with it. There were many meetings commemorating historic events in all parts of the State. Without doubt, the people of Illinois drew inspiration from the commemoration of its past, which helped them to meet the high and solemn duties of the present.

ILLINOIS' PART IN THE WAR.

You will recall, with justifiable pride, the hearty response which your Honorable Body made to the government at Washington immediately upon the severing of our diplomatic relations with the German Empire. From that day until the armistice was signed, Illinois presented a solid front to our enemies, whether they were found on foreign soil, or within our own borders.

You will recall that in the early days of the war, we took counsel together over the creation of Exemption Boards for the administration of the Selective Service Law. The time, within which we had to act, was short. But twelve days intervened between the time we were asked to nominate members for these boards and the time when the complete lists of them were in Washington. Illinois was required to furnish 227 of these boards. The membership of the boards was 681. The duties, devolving upon these boards, were of the most delicate and exacting kind. It was to be expected that some mistakes would be made in the personnel of the boards. And yet, for the entire period of the war, only ten members were found wanting and compelled to resign.

The successful administration of the Selective Service Law is one of the greatest achievements of the war. Those who have served upon the Exemption Boards are largely entitled to the credit for this achievement. Their labors have been exhaustive, their embarrassments great, their tasks new and untried, and therefore, their accomplishment was doubly creditable and honorable.

Your Honorable Body also provided for a State Council of Defense. That body was promptly appointed and organized, and at once began its work. Through the generosity of the chairman of the Council, an entire building in Chicago, with fuel, light and janitor service, was given without expense to the State for the activities of the State Council. You are all familiar with the business-like and efficient work of that Council. Its activities multiplied until they reached into every corner of the State. Although the Council was composed of representatives of both political parties, and of both capital and labor, though it was intended to be, as it was in fact, rep-sentative of all our people, it acted with complete harmony and efficiency during all the months of the war. It was a large factor in maintaining the solidarity of our people which so distinguished Illinois during this time. An appropriation of $50,000 was made for the expenses of this body by the last General Assembly. This small appropriation was found insufficient and the public-spirited citizens of Chicago raised voluntarily $100,000 additional. In other states, appropriations of a million dollars, and in one instance, I believe, of five millions were made for similar bodies. The comparatively small expenses of our State Council were due, first, to business-like methods; and second, to the fact that its vast work was mainly conducted by volunteer workers. Notwithstanding the disparity in amounts expended by our State Council of Defense and those of other states, it is generally conceded, I believe, that in the amount and quality of work done, our State Council stands among the very first, if not the first, in all the Union.

Illinois, during the present war, has furnished 314,504 soldiers and sailors to the forces of the United States, a number 58,207 in excess of all who went from Illinois to join the Union Armies in the Civil War. She has met wholeheartedly and promptly every demand for money or men made upon her from the day when war was declared. Her soldiers have won imperishable renown upon every battlefield whereon they have fought. And henceforth Belleau Woods, Chatillon, Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne Forest will be named in our history alongside of Donelson, Vicksburg, Missionary Ridge and Appomattox. For upon all these fields, and many others besides, the valor of Illinois soldiers played a mighty part.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Your Honorable Body, at its last session, submitted a resolution calling for a constitutional convention to the people of the State. That resolution was adopted. It thus becomes necessary for you to provide, by appropriate legislation, for the holding of such convention. The success of that convention will, in a considerable measure, depend upon the wisdom with which you frame the legislation calling it into being. I, therefore, urge that you give this important subject your most earnest consideration.

GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE.

The people have authorized the issue of bonds to the amount of $60,000,000 for the construction of good roads. The execution of this project in an economical and efficient manner now engages the attention of the administration.

REVENUE LAWS.

One of the imperative needs of the time is a general revision of our revenue laws, with radical changes in our taxing machinery. Taxation has become an intricate and complex science. A State Board of Equalization, however high its motives, finds itself illy equipped to deal with these questions. The more advanced states have already abandoned this method of taxation. With the best that they can do, the assessments they fix are merely guesses and inequality in taxation is the rule and not the exception.

I believe that the State Board of Equalization should be abolished. Its functions should be devolved upon a central department with plenary powers of supervision and control which, with the assistance of men trained and expert on the subject of taxation and devoting their whole time to their duties, may secure a just and equitable assessment of property.

PRIMARIES AND ELECTIONS.

At the last session of the General Assembly, provision was made for a commission to study and report upon a revision of the primary and election laws of the State. In pursuance thereof, a commission was created, and, as I am advised, is ready to report to your Honorable Body. The expenses of primaries and elections are becoming a serious burden upon the people of the State. I earnestly hope that, at this session, legislation will be enacted by which primaries and elections may be simplified and reduced in number.

LAW FOR CORPORATIONS.

Our corporation laws are inadequate and do not meet the needs of modern business conditions. The result is that our corporations are largely organized under the laws of other states and large sums of money are paid annually into the treasuries of other states for corporation fees.

I recommend that your Honorable Body take up the question whether a corporation law for Illinois might not be so framed as to adequately safeguard the interests of the people, and at the same time be better suited to the needs of modern business. Such a law would also prevent the diversion of these large sums from our own State into the treasuries of other states.

LARGER POWER FOR COURTS.

The courts have been obstructed in the administration of the law by the formalism and detailed legislative rules by which they are bound. Is it not time to confer upon the courts larger powers of prescribing rules and procedure for their own governance, by which they may more efficiently organize themselves and more expeditiously transact business?

HOURS FOR WOMEN.

At the last session of the General Assembly, a commission was created to inquire into hours of employment for women and report upon the same to this General Assembly. Thereafter, the commission was appointed, it met and organized, and has made an exhaustive investigation of the subject. I will later submit its report to you.

It is generally believed, I think, that women cannot, with safety to society, at least in intensive and continuous industries, work a longer time than eight hours in any one day. Society is directly and deeply interested in their welfare. The hours of labor and working conditions for them must be such that they may become the mothers of strong, vigorous children if our future is to be secure.

I earnestly hope that in view of these considerations, your Honorable Body will enact legislation restricting the hours of labor for women in this State.

STATE HOUSING CODE.

One of the most fruitful causes of disease and debility is improper and insanitary housing. This is probably the largest single cause contributing to tuberculosis, and an increasing number of counties have thought it necessary to build and maintain sanatoria for tubercular patients.

It is not enough that the State care for its dependents. It has a right, and it is its duty, to prevent such dependency wherever possible. Other states long since have enacted laws to prevent the building of houses which would be inimical to the public health.

The time has come when Illinois should adopt some kind of a housing code. If such a code had been adopted a half century ago, without needless burden to anyone we would to-day have good housing conditions throughout the State. And so, if looking to the future, we should adopt such a code now, the slums, which are the breeding place of disease and crime, would begin to disappear. Such a code might properly be very lenient towards conditions as they now exist, but by rigidly controlling the future, would inaugurate a better day.

AGRICULTURE.

There is another problem pressing hard upon us now. A great proportion of our farm lands is no longer occupied by the owners. The market value of these lands is so high that it is increasingly difficult for the tenant to purchase a farm, as he did in former days. Land banks have been established by the government, but they do not help materially in states like Illinois. With proper supervision, the government could safely lend, as in Denmark, a large per cent of the fair cash value of the farm. This amount could be amortized on the basis of a low rate of interest, such as the government pays upon its securities, and could be extended over a long series of years, so that, at the end of that series, the farm would be paid for.

However, to enable the young man, who is just starting out as a farmer, to get into a position to do this, some changes must be made in our laws relating to landlord and tenant. The most general form of lease in use, at the present time, is a contract for one year with no restrictions as to the crops to be raised. The result is that the tenant takes all he possibly can from the soil for that one year without any reference to the future. He would not be human if he did not do so. This means a constant depreciation of the land, and the landlord and the tenant seem to be in a conspiracy to ruin the fields as rapidly as possible—the landlord exacting the highest rent possible, and the tenant taking from the land all the fertility that he can. This condition, if permitted, will lead surely to the ruin of such lands. It has been said truly that there are three parties to a lease of a farm—the landlord, the tenant and the land itself; but the land cannot speak. And if it is to be conserved for future generations, the State must speak in its stead.

Let us not persist in the mistake we have made so long. The Mississippi Valley has been rightly called the granary of the world. But if our agriculture in the next hundred years shall be no better than during the last hundred, at the end of that time the Mississippi Valley will be dotted with abandoned farms. You cannot subtract from the soil forever, adding nothing, without finally reducing the remainder.

I know this is a difficult problem, but it must be met in some way. I earnestly hope that the Legislature will take the question up seriously, for I feel certain, if it does, some progress will be made towards its solution. It may be found desirable to prescribe a certain form of lease by which a certain proportion of the farm lands will be sown in some legume each year. It may be necessary to provide that when the tenant has increased the fertility of the soil or has made improvements, the owner shall not, at the expiration of the lease, be permitted either to raise the rent or oust the tenant until he shall have paid the tenant for the unexhausted increase of fertility, or for the improvements. This would tend to give the tenant a new interest in the land, and would improve his methods of farming. At present, there is no possible inducement to him to make the farm better since it may be taken from him at the end of the year. It would also have the effect, in my opinion, of lengthening the average life of farm leases, which, in itself, would help the agriculture of the State.

I also urge the continued support of so-called Farm Bureaus in the State. Those counties which have had a farm advisor longest have made the greatest progress in increased production and in increased prosperity for all the farmers—for the tenants, and those owning the farms they till. These Bureaus bring about a spirit of cooperation among the farmers by which the poorest farmers tend to rise to the level of the best. They lead naturally to cooperative enterprises among the farmers in the purchase of supplies, and in the marketing of their products. In Europe, where cooperative enterprises among the farmers have developed most, we find the highest form of farming and the most prosperous communities.

I believe it is possible, with the further development of Farm Bureaus, with some such reforms as I have suggested above with reference to farm leases, and with proper land banks wisely established and administered, to maintain conditions so that the farm hand can rapidly pass from laborer to tenant and from tenant to farm owner.

FORESTRY.

In my inaugural address two years ago, I called attention to the fact that we have large areas of land in this State better suited to forestry than to any other use. Provision was made in the Civil Administrative Code for a Board of Natural Resources and Conservation to advise the Department of Registration and Education regarding the natural resources of the State, forestry being specially mentioned. Under the direction of the Department, some investigational work along this line was undertaken, and as a result the Department recommends that a forester be employed to make a preliminary study of the needs and possibilities of the situation, and I concur in this recommendation.

There are many thousand acres of land in Illinois which at the present time produce nothing, but which are suited to tree culture. Without encouragement, however, from the State, the owners of these lands are not likely to devote them to a crop which cannot be harvested for possibly fifty years. The taxes upon these lands produce but little revenue to the State. If the State could exempt these lands from taxation upon the condition that they were planted to trees, with the provision that when the trees were harvested a proper tax would be collected upon the product, I believe that much of such land would become permanent forests, a source of revenue to their owners and to the State.

PENSIONS.

A commission was created by your Honorable Body to investigate and report upon the subject of pensions for certain classes of public employees.

This commission has made a very exhaustive study of the subject. I will submit its full report to you later. Among other things, however, that commission has found that nearly all, if not all, of the several pension funds created by the different municipalities of the State, as well as by the State itself are hopelessly insolvent. These funds were established with wholly inadequate provisions for their future. The contributions made by the employees and by the municipalities or State, were altogether insufficient to meet the obligations which the municipalities and the State have incurred, morally at least.

I recommend that your Honorable Body give its fullest consideration to this entire subject. Either these pension systems should be discontinued altogether, or the State should require that they be based upon sound actuarial principles.

GREAT CENTURY HAS CLOSED.

The last General Assembly closed the first century of Illinois' legislative history. It was distinguished by the serious work it performed and by the great results achieved. It met the well-nigh universal commendation of our people. It was a fitting close to a great century. Its successful labors were the result, at least partially, of close cooperation between the legislative and executive branches of the government.

And now you are assembled to inaugurate a second century. Great questions will be before you for your consideration. If we shall maintain the cooperation which we practiced two years ago, it is not too much to hope that the first session of the new century may match in achievement the last session of the old. Let us so strive.

Respectfully,

FRANK O. LOWDEN, Governor.

On motion of Mr. Smejkal, 20,000 copies of the Governor's message were ordered printed for the use of the House and Senate.

At the hour of 5:00 o'clock p. m., Mr. Barr moved that the Joint Assembly do now rise,

And the motion prevailed.

Whereupon, the Honorable, the Senate, having withdrawn, the House resumed its session.

The Speaker in the chair.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Paddock, Secretary:

Mr. Speaker—I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following joint resolution, in which I am requested to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

17. When any bill is about to be considered by a committee the introducer of the bill shall be notified of the time and place where such bill shall be considered by such committee.

17½. No committee shall sit during sessions of the House, without consent of the House.

BILLS.

18. When the roll shall be called for the first introduction of bills, each member may introduce three bills. And should the call be suspended by adjournment or otherwise, the calling of the roll shall be taken up when that order of business is reached, at the point at which it was discontinued, and this order shall be observed until the roll call shall be alphabetically completed. No bill shall be introduced at the expiration of three weeks after the adoption of the permanent rules, except upon each Tuesday and except by Standing Committees of the House.

19. The Clerk shall indorse on every bill the number thereof, the name of the member introducing it, the date of the introduction, and the several orders taken thereon; and when printed, said several indorsements shall be printed at the head of the bill.

20. When a bill is introduced it shall be read by its title, ordered printed and referred to the proper committee for consideration. It is hereby made the duty of any member introducing a bill proposing an amendment to any statute law of this State, to underscore the word or words, comprising the proposed amendment, and no bill shall be printed until such word or words are underscored. All parts of bills which are underscored shall be printed in italics.

21. The Clerk shall, as soon as any bill is printed, place the same in the postoffice boxes of the members; and printed bills shall be furnished to others than public officers and members of the General Assembly and the press only on the written order of the Speaker, the President and the President pro tem. of the Senate, and members of the General Assembly

22. Amendments to bills may be offered at the conclusion of the second reading, and all amendments to bills, except amendments by striking out,

All bills for appropriations of money from the State treasury, or providing for the expenditure of money when referred to other committees and by them reported back to the House with favorable recommendations, shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for its consideration before being finally acted upon by the House.

The Speaker may reserve any bill or resolution introduced of general State importance, or in case of emergency, on the Speaker's table and lay the same before the House; after the same has been printed, and with the consent of the House the same may be considered as in Committee of the Whole House, in the order in which such measures may be entered; otherwise, or upon the failure of the House to consent to such reference, the bill or resolution shall be referred to its appropriate committee; provided, however, that no bill or resolution may be considered in the Committee of the Whole House, until two days after the same shall have been printed and placed in the post-office boxes of the members.

29. All questions relating to the priority of business to be acted upon, not otherwise provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate.

30. When a question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for a member of the majority to move for reconsideration thereof, or give notice that he will make such motion within the time prescribed by this rule, for which time he shall control the motion. But no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion, upon which the vote was taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the House; nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless within the next day of actual session of the House: Provided, that should the member giving notice of a motion to reconsider, not make such motion within the time prescribed by the rule, any other member voting with the majority, may make such motion, within the next succeeding legislative day. Such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn: And, provided, further, that when a bill has passed the House it shall require a constitutional majority to reconsider the vote by which the same was passed: And, provided, also, when a motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill is passed is made, or a notice is given that such motion will be made within three days of the last legislative day of the session, it will then be in order for any member to move that such motion or notice of motion may be taken up and disposed of.

32. Upon a call of the House for the yeas and nays on any question the names of the members shall be called in alphabetical order.

33. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have the precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

34. No person shall visit or remain at the Clerk's table, while the yeas and nays are being called, and in the performance of their duties, all clerks of the House shall be under the supervision and control of the Speaker.

35. A motion for commitment, until it shall be decided, shall preclude all amendments to the main question.

36. A motion to lay any particular proposition on the table shall apply to that particular proposition only.

37. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of an amendment.

38. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desires it.

39. When a motion is made, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if it be in writing, it shall be read aloud by the Clerk before debate thereon.

40. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be considered in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment, by leave of the House.

41. Any member may call for a division of the question, when divisible, but a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.

42. Whenever any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality, and no motion shall be considered in order unless made from the seat occupied by the member.

43. When two or more members arise at once the Speaker shall name the member who is to speak first.

44. All questions, except as provided in rules 45 and 51, whether in the Committee of the Whole or in the House, shall be disposed of in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the most remote day shall be the first put.

45. The rules of the House shall be observed in all committees as far as may be applicable.

46. When the committee reports a substitute for an original bill, with the recommendation that the substitute pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute a first time at once and order it printed.

47. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House may be presented by any member, who shall state briefly to the House the contents thereof, which may be received, read and referred on the same day.

48. No member shall speak longer than thirty minutes at one time, nor more than once on the same question, except by leave of the House; but the member who introduces a measure shall, in all cases, have the right to close the debate, and this right shall not be denied him even after the previous question has been ordered, although he may have spoken once on the same subject: Provided, the member so speaking shall not be allowed more time in all than is permitted by the rules of the House to other members.

49. While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House, or when a member is speaking no person shall walk out of or across the room, or pass between the member speaking and the Chair, or entertain private discourse.

50. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order.

51. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but—
To fix the time to which to adjourn.

To adjourn.

A call of the House.

To lay on the table.

The previous question.

To commit.

To postpone to a day certain.

To postpone to a day indefinitely.

To amend.

Which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named; and no motion—

To postpone to a day certain,

To commit, or

To postpone indefinitely,

Being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, or at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

Provided, that when a call of the House, or a roll call upon any bill, resolution or motion, shall disclose the fact that there is not a quorum present, then the following shall be the order of business—

A motion: To produce a quorum by compelling the attendance of absent members.

To fix the time to which to adjourn.

To adjourn.

A motion for a call of the House.

52. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Cushing's Parliamentary Rules and Practice, shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, or the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

53. If a question be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member who has spoken on the preceding day shall be permitted to speak again on the same question without leave.

54. Any two members shall have the liberty to dissent from, and protest, in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they shall think injurious to the public or any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered upon the Journal.

55. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, viz: "As many as are of the opinion that" (as the case may be) "say 'Aye,'" and, after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion say, 'No.'" If the speaker doubt, or if a division be called for, the House shall divide; those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

56. In forming a committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman to preside in the committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

ADJOURNMENT.

57. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made shall be entered on the Journal.

Ten o'clock in the morning shall be the standing hour to which the House shall adjourn unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote.

58. A motion to adjourn shall be decided without debate and not be subject to amendment.

59. No rule shall be suspended without the vote on roll call or division, of two-thirds of the members present, nor shall any rule be altered or amended without one day's notice being given of the motion thereof, and the vote on roll call of two-thirds of the members present, but any amendment or alteration having the approval of the Rules Committee may be adopted on roll call or division by a majority of the members elected.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

60. The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments or debate. When it is decided that the main question shall not now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate.

The effect of the main question being ordered shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote, first, upon all amendments reported or pending in the inverse order in which they are offered. After the motion for the previous question has prevailed, it shall not be in order to move for a call of the House unless it shall appear by yeas and nays, as taken on the main question, that no quorum is present; or to move to adjourn prior to a decision of the main question: Provided, if a motion to postpone is pending the only effect of the previous question shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion.

61. All resolutions or petitions calling for the appointment of committees, or involving the expenditure of money, and all orders in reference to the appointed employees, or the increase of compensation of employees, or the expenditures of moneys, for incidental expenses of the session shall be referred to the Appropriation Committee without debate.

At the conclusion of the exercises, on motion of Senator Barr, seconded by Mr. Smejkal, the address of Hon. William A. Rodenberg was ordered printed in the House and Senate Journals, which address is as follows:

CONGRESSMAN W. A. RODENBERG: Mr. Speaker and members of the Fifty-first General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen—It is unnecessary for me to assure you that I am deeply appreciative of the honor of an invitation to deliver an address in this historic hall and on this historic occasion.

It is indeed a very great pleasure to me to be with you today, and as an evidence of my appreciation of your courtesy I will promise you at the very outset of my remarks that I shall attempt to control your attention for only a short time.

Mr. Speaker, five score and ten years ago today, the Star of Destiny shone resplendant over the cradle of an infant boy, who in years to follow, was to be acclaimed by history as America's grandest contribution to the world's heritage of great and noble men. (Applause.)

On that day in a cabin home, amid the hills of Kentucky, Abraham Lincoln was born, and, on this, the anniversary of his birth, the memory of that great and Godlike life thrills the soul of every American, giving him the inspiration of true nobility.

Abraham Lincoln! What a flood of mighty memories is awakened by that name. What a glorious panorama of patriotic achievements it presents to view, and it seems to fathom the very depths of public devotion, the innermost springs of sympathy and of sorrow. As we pronounce it reverently, the trials, tragedies and triumphs of the Nation's supreme trouble passes again in view before us, and rising above the stress and strife of conflict, grand and majestic, like some tall cliff that midway leaves the storm, we behold again the one great central figure of that epoch of heroism, the one never failing beacon light of National patriotism, Our Lincoln, the World's Lincoln. (Applause.)

As I attempt today to pay tribute to a personality so great, to a character so grand, so complex and yet so simple, I am overwhelmed with a sense of my inability to do even partial justice to his name and fame. I shall have to content myself, therefore, by a brief reference to some of his great traits of character, which I think have left a profound impression on the American mind.

Why is it that no other name in the long list of distinguished American statesmen stirs the heart of the Nation so deeply as that of Abraham Lincoln? Orators never weary of singing his praise and hearers never tire of listening. Books on Lincoln multiply each year and the interest in them never lags. Every trifling element of his life, every scrap of his writing, every jest, every anecdote and every saying, is treasured by the people today and bequeathed by them as a rich legacy unto their issue. It is not enough to say that Lincoln was a wise and patriotic President and died a martyr to a great cause. We have had other wise and devoted presidents, and he is not the only martyr, yet there is only one Lincoln. Washington, we reverence; Jackson, we admire; but Lincoln, we love.

His memory is more deeply enshrined in the heart of the Nation than that of any other man; and there is no one so close as he to the source of tears and emotion. This cannot be explained by the fact that he rose by manly effort from the humblest walks of back-woods life to the greatest position within the gift of the people of the United States; nor can it be accounted for by the fact that he was the noblest embodiment of that spiritual self-reliance that is born of the loyal struggle in the forest primeval, nor was it because of the fact that he signed the Proclamation of Emancipation—those are all a part of the reasons for the esteem in which we hold Lincoln—and so, too, are his inexhaustible humor, his intense earnestness, his tireless industry, his honesty and fairness, his courage and steadfastness of purpose—his humor and unaffected ways had something to do with his popularity, and so had his sturdy common sense. Yet, not all of these attributes combined could make Lincoln, without something additional. Mr. Speaker, the true secret of the love for Lincoln was his own love for his fellow man. (Applause.)

In that giant ungainly form there was a heart of infinite human sympathy, and this it was that illumined all his other traits of greatness, and that has made the imperishable halo that lingers around his head. (Applause.) Without this, he might have achieved greatness, might have become President, might have freed the slaves, as a political necessity, might have brought the war to a successful close, and might even have fallen the victim of an assassin's bullet, and yet, we should not be talking of him as we are today. It is this one supreme trait of human sympathy that carries his name out of the realms of the commonplace into that of emotion. It was this same deep human sympathy that caused Lincoln to hate slavery, and to throw all of the powers of his logic and eloquence against it. It was this, too, that enabled him to hold that marvelous balance of judgment which could put the Union above all else, holding back the emancipation until the proper time. He could put himself in the place of the citizen on the border state and realize that any radical movement might endanger the cause of freedom itself. This same deep note of human sympathy was sounded in his first inaugural, and it ran throughout his relations with the soldiers in the field and it was in his last acts as it was in his first.

The soldiers fighting in the field and dying in the hospitals said to each other, "He cares; he makes us fight, but he cares." And they fought on as they never would have fought but for that sympathy of feeling for the head of the nation. Looking at the matter, then, my friends, from any aspect, during all of the periods of Lincoln's life, he was human in the best and truest sense of that fine word, and that is the prime cause of his greatness and our reverence for him. And that is reason enough why the Nation loves the name of Lincoln.

Mr. Speaker, the fast falling shades of the past leave few names of men not enshrined by their gloom. Many of the heroes of today will be lost to sight in the dimness of the approaching twilight. Tomorrow, the sun will lighten up new shrines, surrounded by tireless hero worshippers. As we look into the past the Earth's greatest heroes are seen in the strangest company; Christ and the condemned men; the missionary and the cannibal; Lincoln and the despised blackman. There they stand in the crowd on Calvary, surrounded by jeering multitudes, today they are together among the Immortals. Those saviours of the race will never be forgotten. (Applause.)

Lincoln's heart solved more problems than his brain. His very gentleness made him the Great Emancipator and reconciler of the composite character of the American people.

Hope, which is a prophet in every heart, was king and priest besides in his. It ruled his life, and consecrated his every act. Others turned their backs in despair on the Republic's future. He, through the deepest darkness, with prescient light and gaze, saw the glory of the coming dawn. Here, my friends, in the city of Springfield, the city he loved so well, in beautiful Oak Ridge Cemetery, he now sleeps the sleep of eternity. Many are the times that I have stood beside that sacred tomb and thought of that great soul that once inhabited the tenement of clay now mouldering into the dust from whence it came, and standing there in the presence of the mighty dead, my faith in humanity has been strengthened and my confidence in the perpetuity of the Republic has been made secure. (Applause.)

Great indeed were the problems of his day and generation, and grandly and majestically were they met and solved by him. It was the masterful genius of Abraham Lincoln that saved the Republic and that made possible the triumph of right in the great conflict for the preservation of the Union.

Now, my countrymen, we are just emerging from another great war, a war that has forever sounded the death knell of autocracy, and made supreme eternally the forces of democracy. In this, the greatest, and let us hope the last of all wars, no state in this Nation of sovereign states has made a more glorious and more inspiring record than our own proud State of Illinois. (Applause.) Under the patriotic leadership of our able and distinguished Governor, Frank O. Lowden. (Applause.)

Under Governor Lowden's leadership there has been loyal and cheerful response to every demand made upon our citizenship by the Nation's necessity. No sacrifice was too great. No hardship too severe; no burden too heavy, when borne by our people, to help the boys who were fighting over there, that an enduring peace might be the heritage of the children of the world. When the bugle sounded forth the call "To arms" the young men of Illinois animated with a spirit that comes to them from Lexington and Bunker Hill, from Monterey and Chapultepec, from Gettysburg and Mission Ridge, from Santiago and Manila Bay, marched forth to the inspiring strains of martial music, ready and willing to do or die.

The mothers of Illinois, God bless them, smiling through their tears, kissed their soldier sons goodbye, perhaps forever. For many of them today sleep in heroes' graves on Flanders Field, amid the lilies of crushed, bruised and bleeding France. They were called upon to make the supreme sacrifice, and they responded to that call in the same heroic spirit as did their fathers in the day of Lincoln. All honor to them. Cheers for the living and tears for the dead. (Applause.)

The human mind, my friends, staggers and is overwhelmed in contemplation of the awful havoc wrought by this war. The cost in blood and treasure is so stupendous it is beyond the comprehension of the brain of mortal man. Over 36,000,000 men were directly engaged in the military and naval operations of the nations of the earth; and of this number fully 7,000,000 in the very prime of vigorous young manhood, representing the very flower of the world's civilization, have gone to their eternal sleep or have been rendered physically useless.

The cost in money alone will exceed $200,000,000,000 or more than the entire National wealth of the United States. And even this figure will be still further augmented. Countless cities and towns have been destroyed, entire countries have been laid to waste and equipment for other than the production of war material has been made absolutely useless. Today ruin and desolation encompass the greater part of Europe, and all of the world groans in agony.

Now, the great task of reconstruction lies before us, and we must meet that task fearlessly and resolutely. This war has wrought a tremendous change in the entire financial, economic and industrial fabric of this country and we must adjust ourselves to that change as speedily as possible. It is not a time for pessimism, for investigation or for lamentation. It is a time for courage, for higher resolves and for heroic action. We must not allow the tragedies of the past to cloud the horizon of our country's future. We owe it to ourselves, and to those who are to come after us, to do all that we can to restore to its former power and glory a civilization that was 1900 years in the upbuilding, and which has been almost wrecked by four years of bloody war.

I, for one, my friends, do not take a gloomy view of the outlook. I have never been a pessimist, thank God. My philosophy all my life has been the philosophy of optimism. While it is true that we have been somewhat shaken, I believe that economically the position of America today is still as sound and as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. (Applause.)

With a population of over 100,000,000 free men, with an abundance of farming land, with inexhaustible mines, forests and water supply, with unequaled transportation facilities, with a genius for organization that has long been the marvel of the world, added to the fact that we will now have a genuine merchant marine, I believe that America can face the future with confidence and assurance. In the reconstruction that is now about to begin, America will be found in the forefront leading all of her competitors. (Applause.) The one thing we need now is to get a start, and to get that start there must be a restoration of confidence, a co-ordination of activities and a strict determination to push forward and upward. The best constructive forces of the Nation must be utilized in this great problem that lies before us.

First and foremost, we must see to it that when demobilization becomes an accomplished fact, that our soldier boys are given the opportunity to return at once to peaceful, industrial pursuits. If this cannot be done without governmental aid, then I, for one, am in favor of extending that aid. I would favor the immediate inauguration of a comprehensive plan of public improvements, needed public improvements, on a scale commensurate with the dignity and greatness of this great republic; I would favor a policy of reclamation that would make tillable millions and millions of acres of arid and swamp lands, that are now uninhabitable and a part of the public domain. I would favor a policy of providing for the construction of highways by the State and Nation throughout the country. The improvement of our rivers and harbors, and the erection of public works and public buildings wherever they are necessary. Do not misunderstand me, I am not in favor of political extravagance, I do not believe in wasteful expenditure of public money. On the contrary, I believe in the application of rigid economy in all governmental matters, but the improvements to which I have referred have long been regarded as public necessities, and if, by beginning them at this particular time, we can avert the threatened fear of the unemployed and give remunerative work to our soldiers, then I, for one, am in favor of no longer delaying. (Applause.)

Idleness has always been the mother of discontent, and if any considerable part of the 4,000,000 young men who were prepared to sacrifice their lives on the altar of duty should be unable to find employment upon returning to their homes, they will be justified in harboring a feeling of discontentment, if not resentment. I say that it is the highest and the most important duty of the government to safeguard the well-being of the boys who were prepared to die, that democracy might live, and a government that fails in the performance of that solemn duty is not a government that is worth fighting or dying for. I believe in that policy.

My friends, blind, indeed must be the man that does not see that already a spirit of discontent is abroad in the land, a feeling of revolt and unrest has invaded all of Europe and is manifesting itself in this country. From the earliest dawn of civilization every great war has furnished a fruitful field for the agitators and the malcontent, in the spirit of reaction which always follows a great National strain. It is then that a successful appeal can be made to passion and to prejudice.

Only recently—in fact ten days ago—in Washington, the Capitol of the Nation, within a stone's throw of the White House, in a building owned by the government, and leased to private parties, there was held a public meeting, in which the principles of Russian Bolshevism were extolled and glorified, and the substitution of the Soviet, with its damnable doctrine of confiscation and murder, for our form of representative government, was openly advocated with a frenzy that was simply startling. The speakers at that meeting told a supposedly American audience that the Bolshevik of Europe were striving for a higher and better civilization than that enjoyed by the United States. A higher a better civilization than ours!

Why, my friends Bolshevism as practiced in Europe denies all laws of morality, of obligations, public and private, social and economical. It denies the very existence of a God or a controlling force in the Universe. It believes in the confiscation of private properties and in the murder of its owners if they resist. It believes in the destruction of all schools, churches and public institutions. It is the very worst insanity of our day. It is anarchy pure and simple. Vicious and violent; it must be put out of this country, it must be rooted out of this country and rooted out quickly, or, just as sure as we are here that cloud that now appears upon our horizon not much larger than a man's hand will grow and spread and scatter until it breaks over our country in a storm of revolution. There can be no middle ground. Every loyal citizen must be on the alert. We cannot temporize with Bolshevism in this country, as there can never be any compromise between it and orderly government. (Applause.)

The deeper that a cancer is permitted to eat in the body politic the harder it will be to remove at the end, and that Bolshevistic system has its American counterpart in this country in the I. W. W., the most reprehensible organization that ever fastened itself on the body politic. (Applause.)

My friends, I recall when a very young man, attending college, the notorious and infamous German anarchist Johann Most first visited the city of New York and promulgated his doctrine of anarchy. I well recall an editorial that I read in the New York Tribune, in which the editor said it was an evidence of the strength, security and stability of our institutions that a man entertaining the destructive views of Most could be allowed to preach his doctrines in this country without any interference on the part of the authorities. The seed sown by Most in New York, some 35 years ago, later brought fruit; because his teachings culminated in the awful Haymarket massacre in our own great city of Chicago. For a while the Nation stood aghast and the people realized for the first time that anarchy had found a foothold in America, but ere long that tragedy was forgotten.

We well remember that fateful day in September, 1901, when the news went out that William McKinley, the Nation's chief, had fallen a victim to an assassin's bullet. I was in the city of Washington when they brought back the dead body of the President to the Capitol. With 100,000 others I stood with bared head on Pennsylvania Avenue, as the funeral cortege wound its way along that beautiful street to the White House. It was then an incident occurred which made a great impression on me, and which I have related already, but which I think will bear repetition. As the hearse bearing the dead body of the President neared the place where I was standing, a young man back of me broke into sobs, and I turned to him and addressed some word of consolation to him, and he said: "Mister, you don't know what this means to me. I was a soldier boy in Cuba, and while there I contracted the yellow fever. When I began to improve they brought me here to Washington and put me in a hospital, but the doctor who attended me told my father that nothing would save my life but an ocean voyage." He said: "My father was a poor man. He could not stand the expense of a trip, so in his dilemma he went to see Mr. McKinley about it. When he told the President my story, the President touched a button and said to his secretary when he appeared: 'Mr. Cortelyou, I want you to send a cablegram to George R. Pike, the Ambassador at Paris to give this boy a place there.'" Then, said the boy: "Mister, the President took a little flower that he always wore in the lapel of his coat and put it into my father's hand and he said: 'My good man, give this flower to your soldier boy with my love and tell him that I pray God will spare his precious young life.'"

The boy said: "Mister, I have got that flower yet, and I intend to keep it always."

I attended the funeral of the President and I stood beside his bier. I gazed upon those noble features, shaped in the image of their Maker, and destined by Him for great and noble deeds, I thought of that noble heart, and I thought of the high purposes, noble ideas and lofty aspirations that animated his every thought and word and standing there under the dome of the Nation's capitol beneath the folds of the American flag, I remembered that this great man had fallen a victim to the dastardly creed of anarchy, and that, too, in a free republic. Once again the people of America stood aghast, thoughtful men everywhere said that the time for drastic remedial action was at hand. But ere long the indignation of an outraged and sorrowing people subsided and again we pursued the even tenor of our way, and that great national tragedy was forgotten.

Here, today, in the capitol of the State of my nativity in the presence of its chosen law-makers, I want to sound a solemn note of warning, that there exists in the country today a systematic, nation-wide propaganda, whose object is the overthrow of law, order and constituted government. It manifests itself in the activities of organizations such as the I. W. W. Bolshevism is at work in this country. Anarchy is rearing its hideous head in our very midst. It is time for the American people to awaken to a realization of the danger, because that kind of propaganda must not be permitted to flourish upon the soil of our country. (Applause.)

As broad as is our land, there is room here for but one flag. (Applause.) And that is the flag whose stars and stripes have been baptized in the best blood of American patriotism. (Applause.) Congress and the legislative bodies of the various states must meet this menace with unflinching courage. Stern and restrictive legislation must be enacted, which will crush out this insidious propaganda. I am not fearful of the outcome, if the American people are once aroused to a sense of the seriousness of the situation. Obedience to the law and obedience to authority must again be made our watchword. There must be a revival of genuine Americanism in this country. (Applause.)

We must revitalize and carry into practical operation the advice given by the immortal Lincoln who in speaking of our perpetuation and of our political institutions gave expression to this sublime sentiment: "Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother, to the lisping baby that prattles on her lap." "Let it be taught in schools, seminaries and colleges." "Let it be printed in papers, spelling books and almanacs, let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice and in short let it become the political religion of the Nation." (Applause.)

History tells us that when Robert Bruce, King of Scotland, was dying, he asked that his heart be removed from his body and borne by knightly hands to the sacred sepulchre of the Savior. On his death, Sir Arthur Douglas, his life-long friend and servant, removed his heart from the body and putting it in a golden casket surrounded himself with a number of young Scotch warriors and they set out on their mission. On the way they were attacked by a large body of Moors who almost overcame them by sheer force of superior numbers. When disaster seemed almost certain, Sir Douglas took the sacred casket and threw it far out into the midst of the Moors and said: "Lead on, Oh heart of Bruce, we follow thee." And because Scotland never had been defeated when following Bruce they took new courage and they rushed on the enemy with the fury of the wind and gained the day.

Today, my friends, when those who unmindful of the spirit that animated the founders of this republic would fan the flames of class hatred and kindle into life the embers of anarchy and lawlessness, when the enemies of law, order and good government and everything that lies at the very foundation of National unity and National harmony, when they are advancing upon us, the loyal citizens of America without regard to creed or race, will receive the inspiration that breathes upon them from the glorious memories of the past, and with true American patriotism will take in their hand the great heart of Abraham Lincoln encase it in their love and hurl it far out into the midst of the enemy and say: "Lead on, Oh heart of Lincoln, we follow thee, we follow thee." (Applause.)

Mr. Speaker—I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 14.

WHEREAS, Many public improvements for which there is an imperative need have been postponed on account of the existence of a state of war between the United States of America and the Imperial German Government; and

WHEREAS, The necessity for the resumption of the construction of public works is fully recognized and is being urged upon all people in authority representing the various political units and subdivisions of the United States; and

WHEREAS, One of the greatest problems confronting the State and the Nation at the present time is the furnishing of immediate employment to a large amount of idle labor released from other activities by the victorious termination of the war; and

WHEREAS, The embarking upon the construction of the much-needed public improvements will furnish immediate and profitable employment to idle labor; and

WHEREAS, The increase in freight rates on the heavy materials, entering largely into the construction of public works, which went into effect on June 25, 1918, was approximately one hundred per cent greater than the increase on other commodities; and

WHEREAS, In the judgment of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois freight rates on materials designed for use in the construction of public works are excessive and tend unmistakably to discourage the resumption of the construction of such enterprises, thus defeating the effort to give employment to idle labor; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the President of the United States, the Congress of the United States and the United States Railroad Administration be and they hereby are memorialized and respectfully but most urgently requested to take such action as will bring about a reduction in the freight tariffs governing the shipment of the materials entering largely into the construction of public works, said reduction to be not less than the advance which went into effect June 25, 1918, and to be effective at an early date; and

That upon the passage of this resolution, certified copies thereof be forthwith forwarded by the Secretary of State of Illinois, to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of both Houses of Congress and members from Illinois of both branches of the Congress of the United States, and the Director General of Railroads.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 36.

WHEREAS, Thousands of the soldiers and sailors who went from the State of Illinois to participate in the war which recently has been concluded have returned to their homes and find themselves without employment; and

WHEREAS, Such returned soldiers and sailors are more interested in securing employment than they are in the building of monuments or the creation of civil service preferences; and

WHEREAS, Employment is not available for such returned soldiers and sailors because of a lack of confidence prevailing throughout the State, which has caused a spirit of unrest to exist among the laboring men of Illinois; and

WHEREAS, Private building operations and public improvements are in a stagnant condition, resulting in a spirit of dissatisfaction among the laboring men, which condition, if permitted to continue, will produce a grave and menacing situation in Illinois; and

WHEREAS, It is the patriotic duty of the officials of the State of Illinois to remedy such a condition and to remove the cause thereof; and

WHEREAS, It has been reported in the daily papers that an unlawful combination exists among the dealers in cement and building materials, causing prohibitive prices for such commodities to exist; and

WHEREAS, It has been stated that such combination prevents the construction of roads and the making of other public improvements at the present time; and

WHEREAS, The Governor in his Biennial Message reported approximately $5,000,000 in the Road Fund in the State treasury, to which substantial additions will be made before this House shall have adjourned; and

WHEREAS, The only information thus far given to the General Assembly by the Governor, relative to a program for the construction of roads within the State, is contained in his message in the following words:

"The people have authorized the issue of bonds to the amount of $60,000,000 for the construction of good roads. The execution of this project in an economical and efficient manner now engages the attention of the administration"; and

WHEREAS, Illinois is abundantly blessed with all the raw materials necessary to the construction of good roads, the waterway and new buildings for public purposes; and

WHEREAS, The Governor has sent no additional information to this House relative to his further consideration of the subject of building good roads, although this body has been in continuous session for over six weeks; and

WHEREAS, The Director of the Department of Finance has issued a written statement to all employees of the State of Illinois, warning them that they must "stop, look and listen" before approaching members of the General Assembly, and that suggestions on their part to members of the General Assembly will result in summary action being taken against them, which action on the part of the Director of Finance precludes the possibility of obtaining any information upon any subject connected with the State Administration except from the Governor or the Director of the Department of Finance; and

WHEREAS, Three millionaires for many years have spent their idle moments and the money of the State of Illinois in a futile attempt to construct a new penitentiary at Joliet, the experiment clearly indicating that, while the gentlemen in question may know how to gather millions, they are quite unfamiliar with the art of constructing jails; and

WHEREAS, A continuation of the control of the construction of the new penitentiary in the present commission will deprive hundreds of laboring men of an opportunity to earn a livelihood, and will continue the use of a penitentiary which is unsanitary, unsafe, unsuited for the purposes for which it is used, and the continued use of which is a disgrace to the State of Illinois; and

WHEREAS, Much work in connection with the Illinois Waterway which has not been done, could have been done during the past two years, particularly in view of the fact that over two years ago the Supreme Court held the present law valid, and in view of the further fact that many years ago the people of the State authorized the issuance of $20,000,000 in bonds for the construction of the Illinois Waterway; and

WHEREAS, The officials of the State of Illinois can make immediately available for public improvements approximately $70,000,000 for the construction of roads, $20,000,000 for the construction of a waterway, $3,000,000 for the construction of a new penitentiary; and

WHEREAS, A vigorous program, calling for the expenditure of the sums mentioned, in an economic and efficient manner, for the purposes stated, would have a wholesome effect in restoring confidence among the citizens of the State and would allay the feeling of unrest which is so pronounced in Illinois today; and

WHEREAS, Nice words neither construct good roads, build waterways, erect penitentiaries, nor employ labor; and

WHEREAS, It is better for the State of Illinois to expend money in public improvements than to pay for soup kitchens and charitable institutions; and

WHEREAS, The officials of the State of Illinois cannot expect the citizens of the State to look with hope towards the future if such officials are unwilling to gaze upon that future with an unmistakable display of confidence on their part; and

WHEREAS, During the past two years the Road Fund in the State treasury has been looked upon with high favor by the Treasurer of the State of Illinois; and

WHEREAS, The Treasurer of the State of Illinois finds the Road Fund to be a very satisfactory fund to have in his possession; and

WHEREAS, The retention of the Road Fund in the State treasury during the past two years has permitted of some very clever financial manipulations along political lines; and

WHEREAS, A continuation of such a policy will forever prevent the construction of good roads in Illinois; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of Illinois derive little or no benefit from the Road Fund while it remains in the State treasury, although that condition does not exist so far as the Treasurer is concerned; and

WHEREAS, The immediate construction of good roads and other public improvements will provide employment for thousands of citizens of the State of Illinois in every part of the State, for which reason such work should not longer be delayed; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, That the Treasurer of the State of Illinois be directed to inform the House of Representatives of the exact sum now on deposit in the Road Fund, where the same is deposited, the amount of interest such fund has earned during the last two years, and the amount of interest paid into the State treasury; be it further

Resolved, That the officials of the State of Illinois, who are charged with making the improvements mentioned in this resolution be directed to furnish the House of Representatives with full information of the plans they have under consideration for the making of such improvements, the Director of the Department of Finance to the contrary, notwithstanding; and, be it further

Resolved, That a committee of this House be appointed by the Speaker to determine if an unlawful combination exists among the dealers in cement and building materials, which makes impossible the construction of the improvements mentioned in this resolution, or if some other and different reason exists which causes the unexplained delay in the construction of public improvements in the State of Illinois.

Mr. Cruden offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent to suspend the rules for its immediate consideration:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 37.

WHEREAS, The Hon. Alfred Van Duser, an honored and respected member of the Fiftieth General Assembly from the Eleventh District, died in the city of Chicago, on the 22d day of November, 1917; and

WHEREAS, It is with deepest regret that we learn of the passing of this capable and worthy citizen; and

WHEREAS, We sympathize with the broken family circle in their sad bereavement; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-first General Assembly, That we extend our sincere sympathy to the widow and family, and to the friends who mourn his passing; and, be it further

Resolved, That this preamble and resolution be spread on the Journal of the House; that a suitably engrossed copy thereof be forwarded to the family and as a further mark of respect to his memory that the House do now adjourn.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., March 13, 1919.

Hon. D. E. Shanahan, Speaker, and Members of the Fifty-first General Assembly, Springfield, Illinois.

GENTLEMEN: In the utmost good faith I filed a petition to contest the election in our district, believing then, and yet believing, that such errors were made in the count of the ballots, as that, if corrected, would result in my being declared elected.

Since almost three months of the session has been held, and one who might become a member at this late day, would find it very difficult to take up the work with any degree of satisfaction to himself or benefit to his district; while on the other hand, the sitting members are familiar with the work as it stands, and can do their part in forming legislation—or attempting to block same—better than a new man at this time.

Believing that it is better for all that matters be permitted to stand as they are, and knowing our district to be well represented, and feeling that to continue my contest would be to jeopardize the position of one of my very best friends, I most respectfully ask that the contest filed by me against the sitting members of this Body from the Forty-sixth District, be dismissed and stricken from the files and records of this General Assembly.

With kindest personal regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

JOHN L. COOPER.

SUPREME COURT
STATE OF ILLINOIS
SPRINGFIELD.

CHAMBERS OF
MR. JUSTICE CARTWRIGHT.
OREGON, ILL., March 10, 1919.

DEAR SIR: In compliance with section 31 of article 6 of the Constitution requiring judges to report to your Excellency such defects and omissions in the laws as they may find to exist together with appropriate forms of bills to cure such defects and omissions, I have the honor to make the following report concerning a most serious defect in the laws and to submit an appropriate form of bill to cure the defect. By the feudal law of England, it was essential that there should always be one in possession of an estate upon whom the feudal lord could call for service. It was therefore necessary that a remainder limited after a life estate should take effect at the instant of the termination of the life estate. If there was a life estate with a remainder limited to take effect at the death of the life tenant, the reversion in fee remained in the grantor or heirs of the deviser and if the life estate came to an end prematurely by any means whatever, there would be no tenant in possession until the death of the life tenant and the remainder would be destroyed. By statute the common law of England is the law of this State and the courts are powerless to change it. The rule of the common law became generally known to the legal profession by the decision in Bond v. Moore, 236 Ill. 576, and since that decision it has become quite a common practice to defeat the wills of testators by a merger of the reversion in fee with the life estate by which the life estate is merged in the fee and prematurely ended. Not only the heirs at law having the reversion, have accomplished that result but land dealers and speculators have been enabled to buy out the interests of such heirs at law so remote as to be practically valueless and which can be bought for a trifle and by acquiring the life estate, defeat the will and destroy the remainder. By this means a great public evil has arisen. In the case of Lewin v. Bell, 285 Ill. 227, the Court called particular attention to the evil in these words:

"The rule of the common law was that a contingent remainder of a freehold estate which waits for and depends upon the termination of the estate preceding it required a particular estate of freehold to support it, and if the particular estate came to an end before the time for vesting of the remainder the remainder would fail. The law on that subject originated from the rule that the seisin or feudal possession must never be without an owner, and if it was not at once parted with it remained in the devisor. That is still the law where the necessity of a preceding particular estate of freehold to support a contingent remainder has not been abolished by statute and the recipient of a benefaction of a testator may thwart his will by merging the life estate in the reversion in fee, by which the life estate comes to an end, and when the one who would be entitled to the remainder comes into being he finds that the interest designed by the testator for him was at the mercy of the life tenant and has been destroyed. The common law is still the law of this State, and where a devise comes within the terms of section 6 of the Conveyance Act, the remainder being contingent until the birth of issue, it may be destroyed by the termination of the life estate through a merger with the reversion. (Bond v. Moore, 236 Ill. 576; Belding v. Parsons, 258 id. 422; Barr v. Gardner, 259 id. 256; Messer v. Baldwin, 262 id. 48; Smith v. Chester, supra.) The common law, which permitted the destruction of contingent remainders, being unchanged by statute in this State, the only method by which a testator devising such remainders can preserve them and prevent his intention being frustrated and his will defeated is a resort to a trust." The rule of the common law has been changed by statute in many states and ought to be promptly changed in this State to put an end to an unquestioned evil. I had a talk with Hon. DeGoy B. Ellis of the House of Representatives and at his request am sending him a copy of the bill.

I also have the honor to transmit a statement received by me from Hon. Charles M. Thomson, Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County, relating to our marriage laws and matters in which he regards them as defective.

With great respect, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

JAMES H. CARTWRIGHT.

HON. FRANK O. LOWDEN, Governor.

ILLINOIS APPELLATE COURT

CHAMBERS OF

MR. JUSTICE THOMSON

CHICAGO.

Hon. James H. Cartwright, Supreme Court of Illinois, Springfield, Illinois.

MY DEAR JUDGE: Two years ago I was assigned, by the Executive Committee of the Circuit Court of Cook County, to the trial of the Divorce Calendar and I spent an entire year in the trial of cases for divorce, annulment or separate maintenance.

During that experience I had very forcefully brought to my attention a number of matters which seem to me to constitute serious defects or omissions in our laws, and as provided in section 31, article 6 of our State Constitution, I beg to report them to you.

(1) I need not call your attention to the fact that the cases of this class disposed of in Cook County annually, run into the thousands. There are hundreds of them which follow marriages that never would have been entered into if the law was not such as to permit hasty marriages.

I believe our marriage laws are defective in their failure to require the lapse of some period of time, between the application for the license and the actual issuance of the license or between the issuance of the license and the performance of the marriage ceremony. The former plan in my judgment, would be preferable. The greatest period thus required by any state is five days. It ought to be longer than that—thirty days would be none too much. If we had such a provision in our Marriage License Statute, these hasty snap marriages would not occur, and the grist presented to our divorce courts would be materially reduced as a consequence.

(2) I believe our divorce statutes should contain two additional causes for divorce: (A) Nonsupport continuously for a period of two years and upwards; and (B) Incurable insanity.

(3) We should have a statute on the subject of alimony in annulment cases.

(4) We should have a statute to the effect that if a marriage is annulled, such children as may have been born as a result of it should, nevertheless be legitimate; and further, that they should have the right to bear the father's name, and it should also provide for the payment, by the father to the mother, of such sums as will enable her to care for them during their minority or until they can support themselves.

(5) Sec. 1a of our Divorce Statute prohibiting the marriage of divorced persons within a year from the entering of a decree of divorce or by defendants found guilty of adultery, within two years from the entering of such a decree, should be repealed, and the statute amended so as to provide that in all divorce cases the decree, if entered as prayed for in the bill, shall be a decree nisi and the case should be continued as a pending case, the decree to become final only upon the entering of an appropriate final order, at any time after the expiration of one year (or longer) from and after the entering of the decree nisi, unless cause is shown in the meantime why the decree should not become final.

(6) Provision should be made for a public official attached to the State's attorney's office to be known as a Divorce Proctor, or several of them, to be assigned to the courts trying cases on the divorce calendar, and defining their duties.

(7) Everything possible should be done to bring about the adoption of the Uniform Marriage Act and the Uniform Divorce Act recommended by the Committee on Uniform State Laws of the American Bar Association.

I shall not presume to take up your time in elaborating these points or in giving my reasons for calling them to your attention. It may be that some of them are without the scope of such defects and omissions as are contemplated by the section of our Constitution to which I have referred, but I have taken the view that they are not.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES M. THOMSON.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 20.

Relating to the establishment of a Jewish State of Palestine and for the granting of complete liberty to the Jewish people in all countries.

The peace of the world depends upon a just and equitable settlement of the war just ended, and whereby each and every nationality, however small, be granted liberty to determine its own destiny and opportunity of living its own life. The people of the United States of America are recognized as ardent supporters of the rights of small nations to exist.

On November 3, 1917, the government of the British Empire, declared in favor of the establishment in Palestine, of a national home for the Jewish people and pledged its best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of a Jewish state, with the provision that in the establishment of the same, nothing shall be done that shall prejudice the civil and national rights of non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by the Jews in other countries.

That the establishment of a Jewish state is essential to the millions of people who have been faithful and loyal subjects of the several nations of which they are citizens and have been for centuries oppressed, through racial prejudice, and left without a parent country for their race; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring herein, That the national aspiration and historic claims of the Jewish people with regard to establishment of a state in Palestine be recognized at the Peace Conference, in accordance with both the American and British declarations. The Speaker laid before the House the following message from the Governor, which was read at large by the Clerk and ordered placed on file:

A message from the Governor by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—The Governor directs me to lay before the House of Representatives, the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, April 18, 1919.

The Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith without approval House Bill 67, the same being a bill for "An Act to amend sections one (1), two (2) and six (6) of an Act entitled, 'An Act to enable cities to establish and maintain public hospitals.'"

This bill does two things:

(1) It authorizes an increase of a special tax for public hospitals in cities of less than 100,000 inhabitants from three mills on the dollar to five mills on the dollar.

(2) It authorizes the issuance of bonds for a period of twenty years for the purpose of constructing buildings and additional buildings for hospital purposes, such bonds to be paid out of taxes authorized by the Act.

Neither the increase of the special tax from three mills on the dollar to five mills on the dollar, nor the issuance of bonds for twenty years is required to be submitted to a vote of the people.

No referendum in either case is required.

The tax authorized by the Act to which this bill is an amendment and the tax authorized by the bill is in addition to the aggregate amount of taxes which may be levied for general city purposes. It is a special tax for a special municipal purpose.

In a veto message to the Fiftieth General Assembly, I used this language:

"Taxes are already so high that I submit that any increase in the authorized rate should first have the approval of the people, unless there is a plain emergency which will not permit of delay.

"It is not enough to say that money is needed for this purpose or that. There are always pressing needs for improved public service everywhere. But those needs must be met by a more rigid economy and not by increased tax rate where the tax rate has already become so excessive that any increase adds an unbearable burden. The people in the several districts who pay taxes can determine this question better than the General Assembly."

If it is sought to rest this bill upon the ground that "there is a plain emergency which will not permit of delay," to quote again from my message of two years ago cited above, that emergency would be met by limiting the operation of this law to say three years. It might well be that the emergency would then be past.

The above language from my veto message to the Fiftieth General Assembly is peculiarly appropriate to the bill under consideration. In this connection it is worthy of consideration that the vote upon a special tax or upon an increase of a special tax should be a majority vote of those voting at the election, and not a majority of those voting upon the proposition. The Act to which this bill under consideration is an amendment, announces in my judgment the correct principle, namely, that the proposition to levy a special tax for hospital purposes should receive a "majority of all the votes cast in such city."

There is another objectionable feature of this bill to which I wish to call your attention. That is, the authorizing of a special tax for some special purpose and then providing that such tax shall be in addition to taxes authorized by the Cities and Villages Act. So far as possible, this practice should be avoided. Even if the purpose is laudable, the special tax for a special purpose inevitably tends to extravagance. It may be in excess of the needs for that particular purpose, in which event some means will be found to divert the excess to some other purpose for which appropriation has not been made. Special taxes should be discouraged.

In addition, the appropriating body is hampered in making distribution of the amounts needed for various purposes. Where the general tax covers all the purposes for which appropriations are made, the fund can be apportioned to those purposes in accordance with their varying needs. One year more money may be required for one purpose and less for another than in the succeeding year. The relative needs of the different activities change from time to time.

Moreover it has been the established policy of this State for more than ten years, to require a referendum on all city bond issues. This principle is sound, and should not be departed from. The bill under consideration disregards this sound principle of policy and authorizes bonds to be issued without any vote of the people.

I concede that there may be an emergency in respect to many matters of expenditure at the present time. I insist, however, that there is also an emergency as to the raising of revenues at this time. The two emergencies must be considered together. The inequalities of taxation, the entire escape from taxation by some corporations and individuals, the utterly haphazard assessments of property for taxation in this State, have been notorious for many years. In a recent decision of the Supreme Court, it was declared that something like a thousand corporations, in one year, subject to the capital stock and franchise tax, had escaped such tax altogether.

In some counties, property is assessed at double the amount that precisely the same kind of property is assessed in others. There is a bill before your Honorable Body to remove these inequalities and to substitute therefor the rule of equality. If this bill becomes a law, it will in a measure at least remove the necessity for increase in tax rates. The two subjects should be considered together. You can only meet an emergency calling for larger expenditures by meeting the corresponding emergency creating larger revenues.

I realize the increased cost of government, due to the extraordinary conditions growing out of the war. Of course this increased cost must be met. This necessity, however, only emphasizes our duty to scrutinize with the utmost care every appropriation and every increase in the tax rate asked. If all the bills now pending before your Honorable Body were to become laws, I estimate that the tax rate for the State would be doubled, and likewise the tax rate for municipalities.

Instead of the increased cost of government giving us caution, it seems to have had the opposite effect. During the war, all we asked was speed. We did not expect public officials to stop to count the cost of any step which we believed would help to victory. But the war is over. We must now plan to pay the cost. A new spirit must control public officials chargeable with expenditures of the public money if we are to succeed in paying the cost of the war. We must return to that very common-place principle that the richer you are, the worse off you are, if you fail to live within your means.

For the reasons above stated, I withhold my approval of this bill.

FRANK H. LOWDEN,

Governor.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Steven called up Senate Bill No. 85 in the order of third reading; whereupon, Senate Bill No. 85, a bill for "An Act to amend an Act entitled, 'An Act requiring corporations to make annual report to the Secretary of State, and providing for the cancellation of articles of incorporation for failure to do so, and to repeal a certain Act therein named,' approved May 10, 1901, in force July 1, 1901, and amendments thereto in force July 1, 1903, and July 1, 1917, by amending section seven thereof and adding thereto sections 7a, 7b, 7c, 7d, 7e, 7f, 7g, 7h and 7i."

A message from the Senate by Mr. Paddock, Secretary:

Mr. Speaker—I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 23.

WHEREAS, The General Assembly, by section 11 of An Act for the conservation of game, wild fowl, birds and fish, has provided as follows:

"The ownership of and title to all wild game and birds in the State of Illinois is hereby declared to be in the State, and no wild game or birds shall be taken or killed in any manner or at any time except the person so taking or killing shall consent that the title to said game shall remain in the State of Illinois for the purpose of regulating the use and disposition of the same after such taking or killing. The taking or killing of wild game or birds at any time in any manner or by any person shall be deemed a consent of said person that the title to such game shall be and remain in the State, for said purpose of regulating the use and disposition of the same," and has provided regulations authorizing the hunting of game and birds at certain seasons upon the payment of a license fee to the State; and

WHEREAS, The shooting of ducks and geese is the chief recreation and sport of many thousands of outdoor enthusiasts who either secure hunting licenses or are exempt from its provisions; and

WHEREAS, The progressive measures for the protection, conservation and propagation of game, birds and fish enacted by the General Assembly of Illinois with the earnest and energetic assistance of the sportsmen of Illinois, rebuts and charge "enemies of wild life" employed by certain eastern organizations because of the national resentment felt by citizens of Illinois at the unjust and discriminatory features of the Federal regulations for the shooting of wild ducks and geese as applied to this State; and

WHEREAS, The Secretary of Agriculture, under authority of an Act of Congress enacted in 1913, prescribed regulations fixing an open season for wild ducks and geese which operated to restrict very largely the hunting of such fowl to territory contiguous to large rivers and lakes, most of which property is in private hands and not open to the public, and to fix an open season which, in the Southern states, came at a time when ducks and geese were plentiful, thereby discriminating greatly against farmer boys and hunters in the valley of the small inland rivers and creeks and the sportsmen of Illinois and of the Middle West states; and

WHEREAS, Protests against the unfair features of these regulations were made to the Secretary of Agriculture and the State law providing an open season was amended in 1915, to provide for two short seasons from September 1 to December 15, and February 15 to March 31, in the hope of securing modification of the Federal provisions, but to no avail, although the Bureau of Biological Survey, the department charged with the enforcement of the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture, recognized the force of these protests and admitted that fall shooting (which Federal regulation necessitates) in this locality is very poor.

WHEREAS, Congress enacted in 1918, the Migratory Bird Treaty Act vesting authority in the Secretary of Agriculture to determine when, to what extent, if at all, and by what means to allow hunting of migratory

Mr. Dahlberg presented the following majority and minority report, which was received and ordered placed on file:

MAJORITY REPORT.

To Hon. Frank O. Lowden, Governor of Illinois, and the Senate and House of Representatives of the Fifty-first General Assembly:

Your commission appointed to investigate the primary and general election laws of the State beg to report the following conclusions:

We find that the election laws of Illinois are cumbersome, inadequate and inconsistent. The primary election law seems to have failed to accomplish the purpose for which it was created. Cumbersome and unreliable election machinery, especially in the larger cities of the State fail to protect the purity of the ballot. Every election brings charges and counter charges of gross fraud of the will of the voters, causing dismay and consternation and an agitated discontent detrimental to the stability of our government. To remedy these defects it will be necessary to inaugurate a revision of the statutes throughout.

The frequency of our elections and the accompanying exorbitant cost have contributed to breaking down their efficiency and creating a demand for relief. The general election and primary elections laws together provide for as many as eleven elections and registrations within a period of one year. These elections of one year have cost the stupendous sum of $5,000,000.00 and placed a real burden upon the tax payers of the State, the citizens of Chicago, alone spending $1,991,914.77.

The present primary election law, after much discussion of differences of opinion, was inaugurated by the Legislature, in response to an insistent public sentiment which has been aroused by the abuses indulged in under our former methods of nominating candidates for office. The theory upon which the primary law is based seemed correct but experience indicates that these abuses could have been corrected in a much more practical way and it would appear that this same public sentiment is about ready to demand this more practical and less expensive solution. We believe this demand will be complete within a period of two years. Experience has shown the primary law not only to be expensive but it fails to attract the general public to its support and cooperation (only spasmodically) and in addition puts the ambition to aspire for nomination for an office of any considerable importance beyond the range of possibility of any citizen of moderate wealth.

The primary also tends, strongly, to exaggerate and magnify religious, class and race differences. It increases personalities between candidates and arouses animosities between communities which tend strongly to disintegrate the parties, creating an unhealthy and undesirable condition. The primary carried to a logical conclusion would promote a pure democracy, while the history of this republic has proven the representative idea in government to be the greatest political discovery in the history of the races. The chief problem of civilization, from a political point of view, has always been to secure concerted action among men on a large scale, without sacrificing local independence. The ancient and recently the modern history of Europe shows that it is not possible to solve this problem without the aid of the American established principle of representation. We should, therefore, not depart too far from it. The town meeting and the convention draw people together to discuss their problems and to fight out their differences. Hedged about by restrictions to prevent fraud or unequal advantage these cannot fail to produce results both helpful and satisfactory.

Your commission has reached these conclusions and would present a remedy along the lines suggested, at this time, were it not for the coming Constitutional Convention which may be expected to change many of the fundamentals in the election laws; we therefore believe that this question of simplified primaries and elections can best be treated, finally, by the Fifty-second General Assembly. We have, however, prepared two bills, deemed essential, which are submitted for consideration and recommended for adoption.

One bill represents a large amount of work and presents a complete, comprehensive codification of the general election laws. If adopted, this will prove to be a great convenience bringing together the hundreds of provisions scattered throughout the statutes in reference to our elections. This bill proposes a considerable addition to the present general election law by providing for a State Elections Commission which shall have supervision over all election matters in the State. We believe that the selection of this commission would form the basis upon which all needed election reforms and improvements may be built. It would, in our opinion, very largely eradicate election frauds and abuses, would eliminate the dissatisfactions and suspicions now existing to the great detriment of our elections and our government and this commission, could, before the session of the next General Assembly, have worked out for submission to that body, a complete plan of party nominations and simplified elections. We earnestly recommend its adoption.

We are also submitting a bill which contemplates some changes which seem advisable, at this time, in the primary election law. This bill would take from the primary nominations for city offices in cities of under 25,000 population, and would change to some extent the duties and formation of the party organizations and conventions. It provides that the county convention shall be composed, as at present, of the county central committee elected at the presidential primary, but requires that the names of candidates for ward and precinct committeemen, who constitute the county central committee, shall be placed on the primary ballot by petition. The county convention shall have power to select delegates to the State, judicial and district conventions—to nominate candidates for circuit judges in judicial districts, composed of one county and candidates for Judges of the Superior Court of Cook County.

The delegates to the State convention from each Congressional district shall constitute the delegates to the Congressional conventions. All Congressional conventions shall be held at the call of the State convention and shall have power to nominate candidates for State Board of Equalization, delegates and alternate delegates to the National convention and to select a State Central Committeeman.

The State convention shall have power to nominate candidates for University Trustees, Congressman at Large, Presidential electors, and delegates and alternate at large to the National convention.

The Judicial conventions in districts composed of more than one county shall be composed of delegates selected by the county conventions and shall have power to nominate candidates for Circuit and Supreme Court Judges.

The section of the law providing a penalty for any one receiving a bribe to influence his vote has been changed to include the giver of the bribe.

The county and State committees are given power to select their chairman from among their own members or otherwise.

MINORITY REPORT.

I do not agree with the majority view in regard to the Primary Law. I believe it was passed by the Legislature in response to the demands of the voters of the State and that the public sentiment is still favorable to its retention. I feel, however, that it can be safely modified to take from its operation those offices which are ministerial in their function leaving only executive and legislative officials to be nominated at the primary with delegate conventions to nominate all other elective officials.

However, with a Constitutional Convention soon to assemble, which will undoubtedly reduce the number of elective officials, I believe it wise to await the results of such convention before making extensive changes in our election laws. I join in recommending in the main the bills submitted amending the Primary Law and codifying the election laws. With reference to the provisions for a State Election Commission and county election commissions, I believe that this should be very carefully considered before such provisions are adopted.

The Speaker laid before the House the following message from the Governor, which was read at large by the Clerk and ordered placed on file:

STATE OF ILLINOIS
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, May 6, 1919.

The Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I return herewith without approval House Bill 7, the same being a bill for "An Act to amend section 10 of an Act entitled, 'An Act to regulate the civil service of the State of Illinois,' approved May 11, 1905. in force November 1, 1905, as amended."

The bill amends that section of the State Civil Service Act which, among other things, gives preference for appointment to persons who have been engaged in the military or naval service of the United States, and who have been honorably discharged therefrom. The present Act specifically gives a preference for appointment to veterans of the Civil War, the Philippine Insurrection, the Boxer uprising in China, and the Spanish American War. It also gives a preference under the construction by the Civil Service Commission to all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the World War. The bill under consideration extends a preference to soldiers and sailors of the World War, who are on inactive or reserve duty. It, however, excepts members of the Students' Army Training Corps and conscientious objectors from its provisions. The bill also contains a clause under a proviso to the effect that soldiers or sailors shall not supplant any one now in the State service who may have competed in the same examination and may have obtained a higher rating.

One effect of this bill is to remove from the operation of the law persons honorably discharged from the Students' Army Training Corps—persons now entitled to preference.

The reason for the exculsion from preference of men who served in the Students' Army Training Corps is not apparent. These men were in the military service of the United States just as completely as were the men who were sent to military camps. They were under the most rigid military discipline. They received military pay while in the training corps. They were subject to overseas service the same as any other person in the army of the United States. They were discharged in the same manner as any other soldier. In the manner of their induction, they were, as I am advised, for the most part men who volunteered their service prior to a call under the draft, although their names were on the selective service list. Why that fine body of young men who volunteered in advance of the call, who made the same sacrifices, and submitted to the same rigorous discipline as did their comrades in the other training camps, should be put in the class of conscientious objectors, it is difficult to understand.

Exclusion of men from the Students' Army Training Corps from a preference can not in my judgment be justified on any sound principle of policy. All soldiers and sailors of the late war should be given a preference, or none, or some middle ground should be found whereby all soldiers and sailors irrespective of the particular units or classes in which they have served, should be placed upon an equal footing in the administration of the civil service law.

It is difficult to justify the matter contained in the proviso relative to the competition of a soldier or sailor with a person now in the State service. The proviso is ambiguous. Under one construction it is retroactive and applies only to examinations heretofore held in which persons in the service and veterans of some war prior to the World War, were in competition.

Giving the proviso a construction which would make it operate retroactively its effect might be to deny to a veteran of a prior war the rights which he had under the law as it existed at the time he took his examination. Under such construction the proviso would have no prospective operation, and would be to legislate simply for particular cases.

If, however, the proviso should operate prospectively it would give the soldier no preference in case he competed in an examination with a person in the State service on the day the amendatory Act became effective. Neither construction is in harmony with sound principles of civil service legislation.

For the reasons above stated, I withhold my approval of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK O. LOWDEN, Governor.

A message from the Governor, by George D. Sutton, Secretary to the Governor:

Mr. Speaker—The Governor directs me to lay before the House of Representatives, the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
SPRINGFIELD, May 7, 1919.

Gentlemen of the Fifty-first General Assembly:

The statement was made before the Joint Committee on Revenue of the General Assembly yesterday afternoon that there were three affidavits in existence showing that members of the State Board of Equalization had been approached by some one and told that if the Pullman Company assessment was increased, that board would be abolished. If these supposed facts be true, and if representatives of the Pullman Company or of any other corporation have employed this method or other improper methods to influence the assessment of property, they should be uncovered and punished. If the innuendo contained in the statement made before the Joint Committee, that I was in some way a party to this transaction or was even cognizant of it, be true, I am unworthy of the office I hold. If the charge made or implied in the above statement before the Joint Committee be not sustained, that is another and potent reason why the State Board of Equalization should be abolished. In any event, there should be a full investigation of all the facts. I never even heard of the Pullman Company assessment until after it had been made and was reported in the public press. I had never had a word with reference to that assessment with any representative of the Pullman Company, nor with any member of the State Board of Equalization, nor with any person whomsoever upon the subject. I have never appeared before the State Board of Equalization in my life, nor before any member thereof, upon any matter whatsoever connected with taxation. If any one on behalf of the Pullman Company or any other corporation has ever represented to the State Board of Equalization, or to any member thereof, that my attitude toward the abolition of the Board would be affected in any way by any assessment that the Board might make, I am as anxious as anyone can be that the identity of such person or persons be disclosed, so that proper punishment can be meted out to him or them.

Illinois was a pioneer in the study of taxing machinery. An able commission, of which Milton Hay was chairman, was appointed by Governor Oglesby, and as early as 1886 recommended the abolition of the State Board of Equalization and the substitution of a small commission appointed by the Governor. Later, another able commission, of which John P. Wilson of Chicago was chairman, was appointed by Governor Deneen and followed the recommendation of the Oglesby Commission. The Efficiency and Economy Committee, created on the recommendation of Governor Dunne, who strongly recommended the abolition of the Board of Equalization, later reached substantially the same conclusion. Three separate commissions have recommended the abolition of the board and none its retention. For more than thirty years there have been repeated efforts made to get rid of this body usually characterized as "useless or worse." In the meantime, every State in the Union which had a large board of equalization followed Illinois' early recommendation and abolished its board. The Illinois board, however, has managed to survive every effort made to get rid of it. And now, feeling itself finally in danger, it has resorted to this new and desperate method to escape destruction.

Early in my administration I announced that I favored a tax commission as against the Board of Equalization. I have been warned more than once that if I should attempt this, means would be found by the board to thwart me. I have felt it my duty to go on with the fight. I believe that a public servant who will be driven from the plain path of duty by threats is hardly less despicable than he who yields to a bribe.

I therefore recommend the appointment of a joint committee of the House and Senate with power to subpoena witnesses and administer oaths, and to make a thorough investigation into the methods and practices of the State Board of Equalization, and particularly to inquire as to what persons, if any, have sought to influence the board or any member thereof in the making of assessments, by any improper means whatsoever.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK O. LOWDEN, Governor.

The foregoing message was received and ordered placed on file.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Browne moved to recall House Bill No. 384 to the order of second reading for the purpose of amendment.

The motion prevailed.

And House Bill No. 384, a bill for "An Act in relation to the regulation of stationary steam engineering."

Was again taken up in the order of second reading.

Whereupon, Mr. Browne offered the following amendments and moved their adoption:

And the amendment was adopted.

There being no further amendments, the foregoing amendments numbered 6 and 7 were ordered printed.

And the question then being, "Shall the bill, as amended, be again transcribed and typed for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Igoe called up House Bill No. 126 in the order of second reading; and House Bill No. 126, a bill for "An Act to authorize the judge of the Probate Court in any county of more than 500,000 inhabitants to appoint a shorthand reporter for the taking and preservation of evidence and fixing the compensation to be paid therefor."

The reporters so appointed shall hold their positions during the pleasure of the clerk so appointing them, now, however, to extend beyond the time for which the clerk making the appointment shall be elected. In case of the absence or disability of the reporters so appointed, the probate clerk may appoint any other reporters to act in their places.

Section 2. The reporters shall take full stenographic notes of the evidence in making proofs of heirships and in the probating of wills, and in all other cases coming before the Probate Court for hearing or trial, when directed by the judge of the court so to do. They shall furnish a transcript of the evidence of each proof of heirship and probating of a will for the files of the court, for which the clerk shall charge and collect compensation at the rate of 15-cents for each one hundred words or fraction thereof, to be taxed as a part of the costs in the estate. In all other cases where the judge of the Probate Court shall direct, or the parties request, the reporters to take stenographic notes, the clerk shall charge and collect 15 cents for each one hundred words for making a transcript of the same. If such request comes from other than those representing the estate, then such compensation shall be paid by the party on whose behalf such transcript is made. The compensation to be paid said stenographers shall not exceed the amount taxed as costs for the services so rendered.

If any party to any proceeding in the Probate Court shall employ and furnish a stenographer for the taking and preservation of evidence, the clerk shall not be entitled to charge and collect the fees as herein provided.

Mr. Igoe moved to lay the amendment on the table.

The motion prevailed and Amendment No. 2 was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Browne offered the following amendment, and moved its adoption:

AMENDMENT No. 3.

Amend House Bill No. 126, as printed, by striking out in the title of said bill the figures "500,000" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "70,000:" and in section one, by striking out the words "five hundred" where they occur and inserting in lieu thereof the word "seventy".

And the amendment was adopted.

There being no further amendments, the foregoing Amendment No. 3 was ordered printed.

And the question then being, "Shall the bill, as amended, be transcribed and typed for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Holaday submitted the following report, which was received and ordered printed:

The joint committee, or material cost investigating commission, appointed pursuant to Senate Joint Resolution No. 17, begs leave to submit the following report:

Pursuant to the authority conferred by said resolution, the Commission perfected its organization by election of the following officers:

Hon. JOHN DAILEY, Chairman,

Hon. F. A. GARESCHE, Vice-Chairman,

Hon. WM. P. HOLADAY, Secretary.

The Commission has held public hearings at the LaSalle Hotel, Chicago, on nearly every non-legislative day from the time of its appointment. The scope of the delegated authority of the Commission extended to various classes of building material. An investigation of all building materials mentioned could not be made by the Commission, without a delay of several weeks, which would undoubtedly tend to unsettle the public mind upon the questions involved, and would, in all probability, retard and interfere with building operations this year. The Commission made some investigations relative to the prices of sand, gravel and stone. The Commission came to the conclusion that while there have been increased prices in hardware, plumbing and other building materials, the public mind, in starting building and construction operations, is influenced almost solely by the prices of what may be termed the basic building materials, to-wit, steel, brick, cement and lumber. The means of investigating costs of the manufacturing of steel were not available to the Commission, consequently no investigation of steel prices based upon manufacturing cost was made by the Commission. Besides the Federal Government, through its proper administrative bodies, has established the price of steel. A difference of opinion in Federal Administration Boards in this matter now awaits the decision of the President.

BRICK.

Very extensive investigations of the cost of the manufacture of common building brick were made by the Commission. We subjected manufacturers to the most rigid examinations as to the cost of manufacture of the product. The brick manufacturers furnished the Commission with all data, books, accounts, reports and calculations asked for. In addition they furnished, upon request, manufacturers' costs sheets and audits of certified accountants for the years 1912, 1913, 1916, 1917 and 1918 for the information of the Commission and for comparative purposes. Estimates of the cost of manufacture for the year 1919 were also submitted. These documents have been carefully studied by the Commission. Being one of the industries whose production was repressed by the Government during the war for the purpose of conserving fuel, the Brick Industry suffered exceedingly great losses for the years 1917 and 1918. An examination of the audits of the company made by reputable certified accountants in the usual course of business for these years show, beyond question, that these losses were sustained. The principal elements entering into the cost of manufacturing brick are labor, freight and hauling and fuel. These items comprise nearly eighty per cent (80%) of the cost of manufacture. The year 1916 was a favorable year for the brick industry. In 1919 labor constituting about thirty-five per cent (35%) of the manufacturing cost has increased thirty-five per cent (35%) over the year 1916. Freight and delivery to job constituting about twenty-five per cent (25%) of the cost of manufacture has increased from 1916 to 1919 about two hundred per cent (200%) on freight and thirty-five per cent (35%) for delivery. Fuel constituting about twenty per cent (20%) of the cost of manufacture has been increased from 1916 to 1919 about one hundred per cent (100%). We have been informed by the brick manufacturers that brick cannot be sold for less than $12.00 per thousand in Chicago, delivered to the job, without depriving the manufacturer of a reasonable profit. This we are not prepared to dispute. It is obvious with overhead expenses remaining practically the same with a small or large production, that operating at full capacity would insure a lower price than would result if there was a limited production of brick. The Commission has been unable to establish, by evidence, that any illegal combinations exist to regulate the price of common building brick. For a limited time during the war the Government permitted agreements of brick manufacturers to be made, establishing prices. The agency for this purpose, created with the Government's sanction, has ceased to exist. The Chicago price of $12.00 per thousand is the lowest price obtaining anywhere in the United States. The only assurance we can give the public is that, with practically capacity production, there may be a slightly lower price for common building brick. The price for Chicago common building brick was established by the Federal Trade Commission at $12.00 per thousand. The Price Fixing Committee of the War Industries Board, at a meeting held on February 27, 1919, fixed the following prices per thousand F. O. B. trucks or cars at plant; an additional charge of $2.00 per thousand to be allowed where brick must be trucked or loaded on cars at nearest railroad siding outside plant:

LUMBER.

Lumber, because of its high price, became a subject of inquiry by this Commission, but there is more than mere high price which brings lumber before us as a subject for most careful consideration.

The destruction of forests as a consequence and a necessity of the late World War, together with a policy of past years resulting in needless waste, presents a very serious question to the entire world.

This Commission attempts to analyze the price of lumber not alone from the standpoint of cost as represented by several constituent parts but from the standpoint of its relative value.

In 1913 one thousand feet of lumber purchased 23.4 bushels of wheat as against 12.4 bushels in 1917. In 1913 one thousand feet of lumber purchased 35 bushels of corn as against 16.3 bushels in 1917. One thousand feet of lumber purchased 290 pounds of hogs in 1913 as against 180 pounds in 1917. One thousand feet of lumber purchased 201 pounds of bacon in 1913 as against 109 pounds in 1917. One thousand feet of lumber purchased 10 barrels of apples in 1913 as against 8½ barrels in 1917. One thousand feet of lumber purchased 190 pounds of cotton in 1913 as against 133 pounds in 1917. One thousand feet of lumber purchased 328 yards of cotton sheeting in 1913 as against 216 yards in 1917. One thousand feet of lumber purchased 1949 lbs. of steel rails in 1913 as against 1725 lbs. in 1917.

In considering the question of lumber values, this Commission has seen fit to look upon stumpage value as one thing, and lumber values as another. Stumpage values are determined by the demand on the part of lumber manufacturers for timber to be converted into lumber to meet the demand for lumber.

Under normal conditions timber or stumpage values respond to increased demand for lumber, but because of peculiar economic conditions relating thereto, to-wit, a constantly diminishing supply of raw material, such values do not respond to falling markets on lumber.

Under present abnormal conditions brought about by the war and its consequent effect upon all other industries, as well as upon capital, no great demand has existed in the country for timber, and in consequence timber or stumpage values have not enhanced in the same proportion as have other commodities; but with the world as a market following settled conditions in the several countries, which have been at war, stumpage or timber values in this country will in the opinion of the Commission increase materially, not alone because of the great demand for lumber, but because of the fast diminishing supply.

The lumber situation is international in its scope. There is a world-wide demand, but only limited fields of production. With over twenty million acres of timber destroyed by artillery fire or burned for strategic purposes during the world war; with Russian saw mills dismantled, stripped of all machinery, which the Bolsheviks sold to the Germans, and general industrial chaos throughout Russia, Canada and the United States will be called upon to supply most of the lumber needed for the reconstruction period. With the demand far greater than ever before, it was the opinion of witnesses called, and it is the opinion of this Commission, that lumber prices will go up rather than down.

Roger E. Simmons, United States Trade Commissioner of the Department of Commerce, recently returned from an investigation for our Government of timber and lumber conditions in Russia and England, gave this analysis. He also called attention to the fact that England was so sure that lumber prices would increase that the Government is making a guarantee to private builders, that if they will go ahead and build now, and in five years the price of lumber, material and construction has come down, that the Government will pay 75 per cent of the difference to the builder and investor. His illustration was that if a man build a five thousand dollar home now, and that if in five years he could build the same home for four thousand dollars, that the English Government will pay him seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750.00.) Mr. Simmons went further to say that it is the opinion of English Statesmen that the Government will not be called upon to pay anything, because prices are going up rather than down. London trade papers, as well as the general press, already are printing articles concerning what they call a "timber famine". Copies of one of these publications were left with the Commission.

On account of this world demand for lumber, there will be many attempts no doubt to encroach upon the Forest Preserves of this country. Such an encroachment, unless limited, would rob the future generations of their rightful heritage. It would be a public menace. It would endanger our entire national conservation policy.

The cost of lumber as distinguished from stumpage value is made up of the following items: Mill labor; manufacturing supplies; general overhead expense; wholesaler's profit; railroad transportation; expenses of retailer and retailer's profit.

In studying the question of the actual cost of lumber, the Commission has considered only two of the constituent elements which go to make up such total cost, namely, labor and railroad transportation. We do this because out of every dollar paid for lumber in Chicago by the consumer to the lumber dealer 21c goes for mill labor and 22c goes for railroad transportation, making a total of 43c out of every dollar for these two items. The Commission is unable to see how the cost of labor in the manufacturing of lumber can be materially lowered so long as the cost of living remains at its present level. The question of railroad transportation is one entirely in the hands of the Government and will be cheapened only when the Government so orders.

CEMENT.

The Commission encountered grave difficulties in investigating the cost of manufacturing cement. The Lehigh Cement Company, operating 14 cement plants throughout the country, through its Vice-President, stated that the actual cost of manufacturing cement per barrel was $1.4466 in 1918 and $.6253 in 1913; that the profit per barrel in 1918 was 11 1/10ths cents and in 1913 was 19 67/100 cents; that the profit on invested capital in 1918 was 5.92 per cent and in 1913 was 11.66 per cent. This company offered to submit all of its cost sheets and audits to any reliable certified accountant appointed by the Commission. The records of this company are kept at Allentown, Pennsylvania, and it would require several months to make an examination to ascertain the cost of production of cement for the years named in the resolution. It took representatives of the Federal Trade Commission three months to examine the books of this company. An Illinois cement company presented its cost sheets and audits for the year 1918. It also furnished the Commission with its monthly reports for the year 1918, sworn to, and being exact copies of the same reports furnished to the War Industries Board. These reports contain an itemization of the elements of cost of production of cement, stating the total cost of the respective items, and the cost of each item per barrel.

The table below is a comparison of the Illinois plants' operative cost, having an output of 4,000 barrels of cement daily, with the estimations of the cost of operating a cement plant in Illinois with a daily output of 3,000 barrels, the estimate referred to being made by a reliable engineer of approved competency and experienced in matters pertaining to the manufacture of cement, which reported estimate was made at the instance of the Governor. The table is as follows:

No positive evidence of combination of cement manufacturers to establish prices was adduced. The circumstances, however, indicate that cement prices are fixed by agreement. Our basis for this conclusion is that different companies make exactly or approximately the same bid for the same work. As an illustration, the Atlas, Lehigh, Marquette and Universal Companies recently made a price verbally to the city of Chicago and to the county of Cook of $2.05 per barrel for the city and $2.08 per barrel for the county. The identity of bids is significant that such prices were the result of agreement. The Marquette plant is located in LaSalle County, Illinois, as is one of the Lehigh plants; the Atlas plant is located at Hannibal, Missouri, and the Universal plant is located at Buffington, near Gary, Indiana. The freight rate from Hannibal to Chicago is 42 cents, whereas the freight rate from Gary, Indiana, to Chicago is 19 cents. If the Hannibal plant can furnish cement in Chicago at a profit, then the difference of 23 cents freight rate would indicate that the Gary plant is making an excessive profit at least of 23 cents per barrel on cement. Either this is true, or the Hannibal plant is losing money, or an arrangement and understanding exists between these companies determining prices.

Recently 3,637 shares of stock owned by alien enemies and held by the Alien Enemy Custodian, being shares of stock of the LaSalle Portland Cement Company, of LaSalle County, Illinois, were offered for sale by the Government. The highest bid therefor, being approximately one-third more than the book value of the stock, was made by the following gentlemen, showing their business connections:

Mr. A. C. Duston, of Cleveland, Ohio, representing the Sandusky Cement Company; and

F. B. Hitchcock & Co. of Chicago, representing the following:

Mr. A. Y. Gowen (Vice-Pres. Lehigh Cement Co., Chicago);

Mr. C. N. McNider (Pres. Northwestern Portland Cement Company, Mason City, Iowa);

Mr. Charles Boettcher (President Cement Securities Company, Denver, Colorado).

The information of the Commission is that the Sandusky Cement Company and F. B. Hitchcock & Company, Chicago, are interested in the bid made.

Upon the request of this Commission to the Alien Property Custodian to withhold confirmation of this bid until the Commission concluded its investigation, an offer was made by the Alien Property Custodian to have this Commission present any objections to such confirmation at a meeting of the Sales Committee of the Alien Property Custodian, to be held in New York on April 25th, 1919. The Commission replied that it has insufficient evidence to warrant recommending either the acceptance or refusal of such bid. While we have no direct evidence of unlawful agreements, the business connections of the bidders, although their interests may be entirely individual, might indicate a purchase in the interests of the companies with which they have financial and official associations.

Another interesting fact is, the printed statement of the LaSalle Portland Cement Company, shows that, for the year ended September 30, 1918, it had net earnings from operations of $348,193.34, or net earnings of over 77½ per cent on its capital stock of $450,000.00.

From the foregoing facts and circumstances, we must conclude that the report of the disinterested engineer, made to the Governor, is entitled to greater credence than the contentions made by the representatives of the Cement Companies. Since this Commission was appointed there has been a material reduction in prices quoted to the State for cement. The interests of the State in this matter are so great, we believe that the State should engage in the manufacture of cement for public works. This would have a tendency not only to create competition, but would serve to keep the public constantly advised as to the cost of production of this product.

PAVING BRICK.

The committee finds no evidence of a combination of paving brick manufacturers. Competition between the paving brick and cement manufacturers has resulted in a price for paving brick at a point as low as paving brick can be sold at a reasonable profit. Three paving brick manufacturers of this State have offered to lease their plants to the State at an annual rental of six per cent on the fair cash value of their plant investment, or to contract their output to the State at actual cost plus a reasonable profit.

DUTY TO REPORT FACTS.

Before any testimony was taken the chairman stated the policy of this Commission as follows:

"We have no purpose to attack reputable and honorable business men and business methods. We assure such that the Commission possesses the moral courage and sentiment of fair dealing to make its report in strict compliance with the evidence adduced. If combinations of such character do not exist, if secret rebates are not made, and if clandestine understandings, establishing prices, do not exist, the Commission will so report."

Having made this statement of policy, the Commission is obligated to report that the record contains no evidence showing that illegal agreements for the purpose of profiteering exist in any of the business investigated by the Commission, subject to the observations heretofore made regarding cement.

NEW PRICE LEVEL.

The U. S. Department of Labor, Information and Education Service has given wide publicity to a monograph written by Irving Fisher, Professor of Political Economy, Yale University. This article is entitled "The New Price Revolution." The Executive Secretary of the Division of Public Works and Construction Development of the United States Department of Labor, Information and Education Service, in a letter to a member of this Commission dated April 14, 1919, states that the conclusions of Professor Fisher "are still essentially our present conclusions."

The fundamental thought in this monograph is that there will be no material dropping of prices. He says:

"The fundamental practical question confronting business men is whether the general level of prices is going to fall. In my opinion it is not going to fall much, if at all. We are on a permanently higher price level and the sooner the business men of this country take this view and adjust themselves to it, the sooner will they save themselves and the Nation from the misfortune which will come if we persist in our present false hope."

This new price level is not confined to America; it is world wide. There is more money in the world than there was before the war. Money is a medium of exchange and a measure of value. There being more money in the world, it is therefore, cheaper and its purchasing power is less, whether for labor or commodities. In other words, the dollar has shrunk. Since 1913 the balance of trade in favor of the United States has been more than twelve billion dollars, the issuance of Treasury notes has given us more money circulation, while our credit in the world has been greatly extended. Money, being a commodity as it increases in quantity, thereby decreases in purchasing power. Prices of all commodities are expressed as a matter of convenience in a medium of exchange. This great money expansion referred to has changed the basis of measurement of the prices of all commodities. Values are merely relative. The real test is the exchange of one commodity with another. The question is, whether prices of all commodities now compared with each other are higher than they were in 1913, when compared with each other. We believe, generally speaking, that prices now are not relatively higher than they were in 1913. Great price changes have come at different periods of the world's history. The tendency through the centuries has been upwards, though there have been periods of temporary lower levels. The influx of gold and silver from America caused higher price levels in Europe during the sixteenth century, the discovery of gold in California stimulated prices in America, while the years 1896 to 1914 witnessed increased prices following the discovery of the gold fields of South Africa, Cripple Creek and Alaska, accompanied by the vast extension of the use of bank credit. We believe that we are now, for the reason already given, experiencing the greatest price revolution in the history of our country. We cite with approval the following thought from Professor Fisher's article:

"Business men should face the facts. To talk reverently of 1913-1914 prices is to speak a dead language today. The buyers of the country, since the armistice, have made an unexampled attack upon prices through their waiting attitude, and yet price recessions have been insignificant. The reason is that we are on a new high-price level, which will be found a stubborn reality. Business men are going to find out that the clever man is not the man who waits, but the one who finds out the new price facts and acts accordingly."

Our approval of the statements of Professor Fisher does not apply to any business whose prices are determined artificially by agreement of manufacturers to secure abnormal profits.

LABOR.

The resolution creating this Commission contains the following mandate:

"To investigate the compensation to labor in the production of such material during such periods (reference being to the years 1912 to 1919, both inclusive) not with the view of diminishing wages, but merely for the purpose of ascertaining whether prices of such materials are disproportionate to the profits derived therefrom."

By the adoption of this resolution the General Assembly placed itself on record as opposed to wage reductions. Material decreases in building material prices can only be accomplished by decreasing wages. Wages now conform to the new general price level and substantial decreases in material prices would be borne by and fall most heavily upon labor. Labor must not be disturbed. Wages are not too high when we consider the diminished purchasing power of the dollar. Besides, wages do not depend upon laws or legislative recommendations; wages depend upon economic conditions. Contracts for wages should be based upon costs of living, giving to the wage-earner the ability to sustain himself and his family with comfort and decency. We do not believe, under present standards of living, that wages are too high. A manufacturer appearing before the Commission stated the psychology of the situation when he said he did not believe in wage reductions, because, in present conditions, to decrease wages would be to invite Bolshevism.

FREIGHT.

As an important factor in the price to the consumer, transportation charges must be considered. Here, too, labor is an important element. The Government has established greatly increased freight rates. Even with such rates the Government is operating the railroads at a loss. The Government has been compelled to fix rates based upon increased charges for labor and materials. The best authorities agree that there is no possibility of a decrease of freight rates, but a strong probability of increased rates. These rates conform to the new price level affecting all materials.

FUEL.

The third of the most important elements in establishing prices is fuel. The largest factor to be considered in coal is also labor. We are assured from our investigations and state it as our conviction that there is little probability in a substantial decrease of the price of coal. It will be observed that labor is the basis in all these factors of price. In the production of building material generally labor, transportation and fuel constitute at the minimum 75 per cent of the cost of production. In view of these indisputable promises we are driven to the inevitably logical conclusion that existing prices will not decline materially, and that these prices express a new and substantially permanent level upon which present and future business must be conducted.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE PUBLIC.

In view of the opinions expressed in this report, we believe it to be our duty as public officials to advise the public not to delay building projects in the hope that prices will come down materially. We do not believe they will. We deem it the part of wisdom to accept present conditions as normal and that building operations should be based upon that principle. With labor unemployed, with our returning soldiers seeking employment, with plants operating at great losses, owing to limited outputs, with necessary public and private improvements long delayed, there is serious danger of widespread business depression. All contemplated buildings, homes, and improvements should be started now. Reconstruction can only be accomplished in its real sense by every citizen subscribing to the doctrine "Buy Now, Build Now".

LEGISLATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. State operation of road building material plants.

The direct interest of the State in a comprehensive system of road building makes it imperative that the State, as trustee for the people, should protect the public from extortionate charges for road building material. When the people voted for the $60,000,000 bond issue for hard roads, it was with the express representation that road projects would not be instituted until the war was over. The overwhelming vote for hard roads was with the understanding that this work would not be commenced until prices were established and normal conditions resumed. The present unjustifiably high prices of road materials will restrict the road building program, reducing the mileage very appreciably. We believe that in view of all these circumstances the State should be authorized by law to manufacture products entering into the public improvements of the State.

We therefore recommend to the General Assembly, for passage, and to the Governor the approval of an Act enabling the State, through its Department of Public Works and Buildings, to accomplish the following:

(a) Acquire by condemnation under the Eminent Domain Laws of the State, lands, mines, quarries, mineral deposits or other property for procuring such raw materials as are necessary for the construction of public improvements;

(b) Lease, purchase, construct, maintain and operate lands, mines, plants and factories for manufacturing products necessary in the maintenance and construction of public highways;

(c) Sell and dispose of the products so produced;

(d) Enter into contracts with producers and manufacturers for the supply to the State of raw materials and manufactured products necessary in the construction and maintenance of public improvements by the State;

(e) Extend credit and make loans to persons, firms or corporations to aid and assist them in producing such raw materials and manufactured products; such credit to be extended or loans made only when such persons, firms or corporations execute and furnish to the Department of Public Works and Buildings pledges, promises and guarantees sufficient to secure the State on account of such loans made or credit extended.

2. Extending competition in road building.

The Illinois laws prohibiting the specifying of a patented pavement seriously curtails competition between various types of pavement. We believe if bids were permitted to be made on various types of pavement, and the State laws amended to permit bids of such character, that competition would result, which would cause the price for cement pavements to be reduced. We do not make any recommendations upon this matter, but submit to the General Assembly the advisability of seriously considering the amendment of the present laws to permit such bids to be made. The granting of such power by law would not imply an indorsement of any particular class of road construction.

3. State Forestry Law.

We recommend passage by the General Assembly of a State Forestry Law, to be administered by a competent forester, under the management and direction of the State Department of Registration and Education we recommend a careful survey by this Department of existing forests in Illinois, and of lands adapted to forest cultivation, whether in trees or not.

4. National Forestry Legislation.

We recommend that the Chairman of the Commission present to the General Assembly a joint resolution memorializing the Congress of the United States to enact a sane legislative and administrative program designed to insure the future timber supplies required by the industries of the country.

The foregoing report expresses the deliberate judgment of the members of this Commission.

Attached to this report are Exhibit "A," being a suggested bill, authorizing the State to acquire raw materials and manufacture products, entering into public improvements; and Exhibit "B," being a memorial address to the President and Congress of the United States, relative to forestry conservation and development.

Such pledges, promises and guarantees shall be approved by the Department of Public Works and Buildings and the Governor, before any credit is extended or loans made as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. The term "public improvements," as used in this Act, shall mean and include any work or improvement which the Department of Public Works and Buildings is charged by law with building, constructing, maintaining or operating.

EXHIBIT B.

WHEREAS, The United States during the last half century has witnessed the reduction of the forest in one region after another. The white pine forests of Pennsylvania, New York and New England, disappeared nearly a half century ago. Likewise the pine forests of the Lake States for the most part were obliterated before 1900. The Southern pineries which for 20 years have been the main supply of lumber for Illinois and other central states will, according to statements recently made by authoritative sources, be to a large extent exhausted within the next ten years.

WHEREAS, The effect of the exhaustion of the commercial forests has been the closing of nearby industries which depended upon these forests for supplies and the shifting of local population to new centers, involving heavy penalties upon both the industries and the people. As another result the country has observed the area of cutover timber land increase to an area estimated by the Secretary of the Interior at 228 million acres. Far the greater part of this land is in the north, south and east, and a very large percentage of it is non-agricultural. With recurring destructive forest fires millions of acres of it have become waste and can only be restored to productiveness through an extensive program of reforestation.

WHEREAS, The wood-using industries not depending upon uncertain local forest supplies have become centered to a very large extent in the thickly populated districts east of the Mississippi River and are drawing their supplies from the remaining forests in the Eastern States, the Gulf States and the states adjacent to the Great Lakes. A large number of such industries are located in the State of Illinois, with the City of Chicago the center of a very large and important group. Chicago has for many years been the chief lumber distribution point of the United States, and the greatest point of lumber distribution in the world. These important industries including the manufacture of railway cars, boxes, sashes and doors, farm machinery, furniture, pianos, vehicles and many other articles are now threatened by the exhaustion of the forests from which their supplies have been drawn. They now face the necessity of bringing timber from the Pacific Coast with heavy freight charges added to the cost.

To the same Pacific Coast supply the country must look for lumber for general construction purposes. The transportation system of the country must add to its present burdens the transcontinental shipment of very large quantities of lumber, a bulky product upon which a high freight rate greatly increases the cost to the consumer.

WHEREAS, Such forests as are owned and managed by the Government, the National Forests, are 97 per cent in the far west and for that reason cannot contribute substantially to the solution of the problem of wood supplies which has become so threatening to the industries of the Eastern States.

WHEREAS, The situation is of such gravity as to require the most careful consideration by the Federal Government and the states to the end that policies may be adopted that will lead to the solution of the problem.

Therefore, be it resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That the Fifty-first General Assembly of the State of Illinois urges the attention of the President and the Congress of the United States to the present timber situation and recommends that, without delay, there be formulated such a National program of forestry as will insure the future timber supplies required by the industries of the country. As an example of what should be done, this General Assembly points to the wise course of the Republic of France in so managing its forests for more than a century that they contributed substantially to the winning of the great war.

It is further urged that the Federal Government acting independently or in cooperation with the states inaugurate action looking towards such measure of public control of the remaining bodies of original timber as will make sure that their supplies will be available as needed by the industries.

It is furthermore urged that comprehensive plans be put into effect for restoring the forest on cutover lands which are non-agricultural in character in the Eastern States, in the states bordering the Great Lakes, and in the South, in order that timber supplies from these regions may be available to the established industries of the Central and Eastern States.

Be it Resolved, That the Secretary of State of Illinois be, and hereby is directed to transmit copies of this preamble and resolution to the President of the United States, the United States Senate and to the House of Representatives and to The Forester of the United States Department of Agriculture.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Castle introduced a bill, House Bill No. 676, a bill for "An Act to amend sections 2, 5, 16, 37 and 59 of an Act entitled, 'An Act to provide for the construction, reparation and protection of drains, ditches and levees, across the lands of others, for agricultural, sanitary and mining purposes, and to provide for the organization of drainage districts,' approved and in force May 29, 1879, as amended."

WHEREAS, An intelligent, thrifty, and saving citizenship is the greatest guaranty of the prosperity of a nation, or any subdivision thereof, such characteristics being a certain proof of a strong, self-reliant, and independent people; and

WHEREAS, The Illinois War Savings Organization, conducting the national thrift campaign in Illinois for the United States Government, urges household and individual budgetting of incomes and earnings to enable wise spending, systematic saving and the purchase of Thrift and War Savings Stamps issued in such amounts as to bring them within the reach of all; and

WHEREAS, Through the purchase of Thrift and War Savings Stamps there is not a man, woman or child in the State of Illinois who may not become a participant in the post-war reconstruction of the entire world and a share-holder in our great government; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-first General Assembly:

First—That the citizens of Illinois be urged to practice wise spending and wise saving, and adopt the individual and family budget system, which will serve them to properly record and apportion their expenditures to their incomes and earnings;

Second—That the people of Illinois extend consideration in every way to thrift, giving expression thereof by saving as much as they may be able, and investing as they may be able in Thrift and War Savings Stamps; and Third—That unqualified endorsement be made of a recent proclamation by Hon. Frank O. Lowden, Governor of the State of Illinois, who said:

"Now is an opportunity for forming habits of thrift, which will better our condition all our lives. Thousands of our people a few years hence will have a competency which they can trace to the War Savings Stamps they purchase now. So long as we live, our finest memory will be that we have done what we could in helping the government. The little child and young man of today will be happy in his old age, if he can recall that he invested his savings in War Savings Stamps."
